

Pope Paul Appeals For World Peace And Christian Unity

Byrnes Favorite Son if Chief GOP Candidates Don't Run

Pontiff Back in Rome After His Meeting With Patriarch

ROME (AP) — Pope Paul VI returned tonight from his "unforgettable pilgrimage" to the Holy Land, where he took bold steps along the path toward Christian unity.

In a climactic speech from Bethlehem, where Christ was born, Pope Paul appealed to world leaders to keep the peace and called on Christians to unite.

Packing history into the last day of his three-day pilgrimage of peace to the Holy Land, the supreme pontiff of 550 million Roman Catholics returned to Jerusalem to join Patriarch

Athenagoras I, spiritual leader of world orthodoxy, in praying that their meetings will be a "prelude of things to come for the glory of God."

These were the final highlights of the Pope's unprecedented visit to the Holy Land, for then he drove to Amman, the Jordan capital, and flew back home.

As his historic three-day pilgrimage in the Holy Land neared its end, the 66-year-old pontiff issued greetings of good will to all men—Christian and non-believer. Departing from his prepared text, he called on the world's chiefs of state to press for peace.

"Will of Christ"
The Pope urged Roman Catholics to do all they can to revitalize their Church in the quest for unity and appealed to non-Catholic Christians to join in the cause.

"Today the will of Christ is pressing upon us and obliging us to do all that we can, with love and wisdom, to bring to all Christians the supreme blessing and honor of a united church," he said.

The Pope journeyed the winding road from Jerusalem to Bethlehem on the Feast of Epiphany, commemorating the visit of the three Wise Men to the manger and the first manifestation of Christ to the Gentiles. Pope Paul was the first Roman pontiff known to have visited the spot of the Nativity.

Thousands Attend
Thousands thronged the town of Christ's birth for the pontiff's historic visit and for Orthodox Christmas Eve services starting three hours after the Pope's visit. But Jordanian troops and police took extraordinary precautions to prevent the mob scene that threatened the Pope's safety in the old city of Jerusalem Saturday.

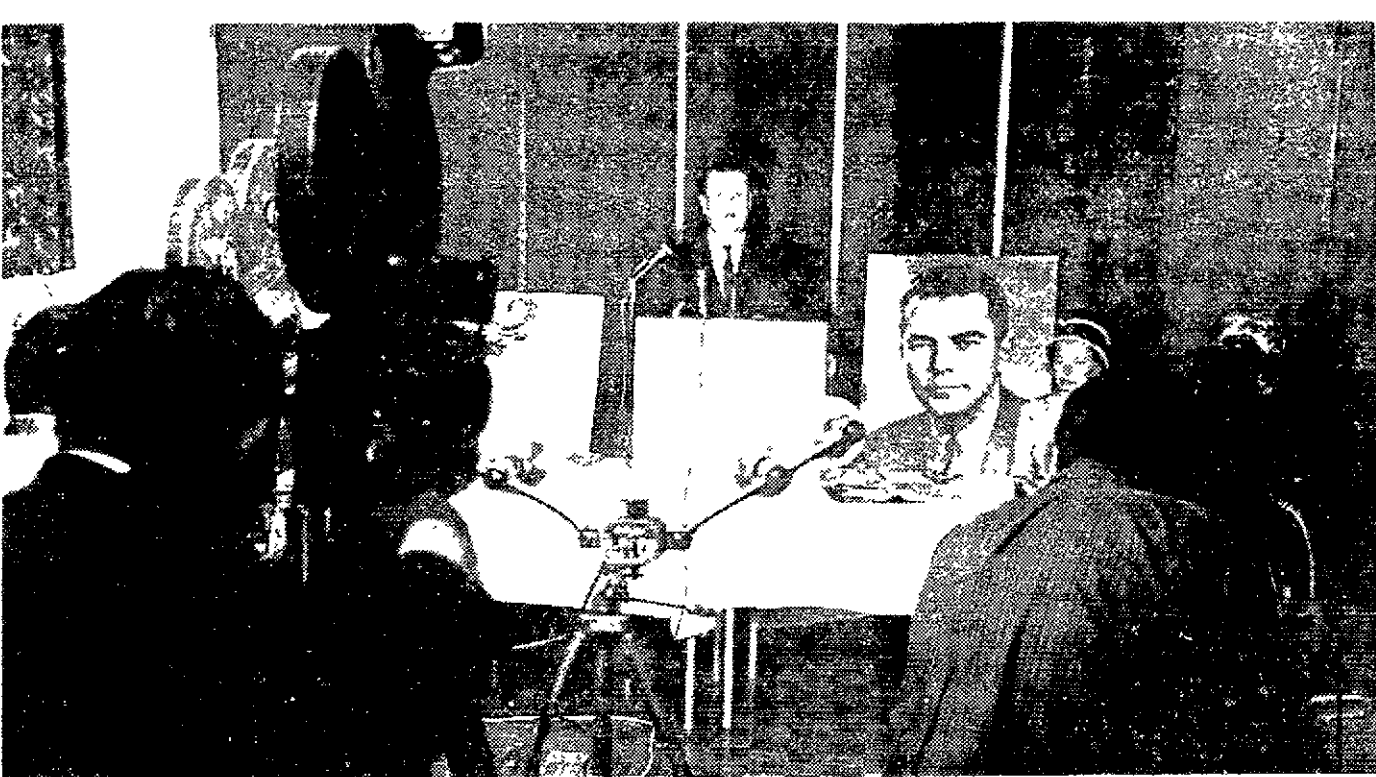

Coils of barbed wire, iron barriers and rows of armed troops ringed Manger Square outside the Church of the Nativity. Police and troops closed the winding road from Jerusalem long before the Pope's arrival, and only about 2,000 children and other spectators were allowed in the square. But surrounding rooftops and streets were jammed.

Mass in Grotto
Robed in red, Pope Paul stooped to enter the doorway of the old church—less than four feet high—and descended the 16 worn steps to the grotto of the Nativity to celebrate Mass.

The pontiff knelt at the chapel of the manger in the cave, 34 feet by 12 feet. Nearby, sunk in the marble floor, was the 14-point Silver Star of Bethlehem which tradition says marks the spot where Christ was born.

The Pope's voice was loud and resonant as he uttered the Announcement of the John Byrnes "favorite son" candidacy in the spring Wisconsin presidential primary was made this morning by Talbot Peterson, Appleton, State Republican chairman. Peterson, shown making

Agrees to Head Slate of Uncommitted Candidates In Wisconsin's Primary

BY DICK LYNEIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

John Byrnes is the Wisconsin Republican "favorite son" candidate for the presidency — providing no other GOP candidates enter the race.

Talbot Peterson, Appleton, state GOP chairman, made the announcement today that the Eighth District congressman has agreed to head a slate of "uncommitted and uncontested delegates" in the state's influential presidential primary next April 7.

Byrnes' statement was read by Peterson at a 10 a.m. press conference at the Conway Hotel. It said:

"In doing so, I am taking for granted that the party's invitation refers to a slate uncommitted to, and uncontested by, any of the major presidential candidates since I have made clear, from the outset, that this is the only kind I would consent to lead.

Accepts Conditionally

"It is obvious that if any major candidate decides to enter the Wisconsin primary, as they have every right to do, such a slate would not be filed."

At the press conference Peterson revealed that the state GOP organization has received assurances from three of eight possible candidates listed in Byrnes' statement that they would not enter the state primary.

Peterson said both Seventh District Rep. Melvin Laird and Warren Knowles, GOP candidate for governor, have received assurances from New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller that he would not enter the state primary.

Letter From Lodge

He added that he was assured last Thursday by Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona of the Senator's intentions not to enter the state primary.

Peterson also read a letter which he received this morning from U. S. Ambassador to Viet Nam, Henry Cabot Lodge. Lodge assured Peterson he has no intentions of entering the primary.

Byrnes asked Peterson that he immediately inform the major GOP presidential prospects "of our party's objective and its plan to enter an uncommitted slate in the primary, depending upon their decision as to whether they will enter Wisconsin."

In addition to Goldwater, Rockefeller and Lodge, Byrnes listed Sen. Thruout Morton, R-Ky.; former Vice President Richard M. Nixon; Michigan Gov. George Romney; Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine.

Peterson said this morning that on Jan. 10, "I will send a letter to each of the potential nominees named in Congressman Byrnes' letter, outlining the Republican plan for victory in November and asking for

Hint Lodge May be GOP Candidate

Letter to Peterson Indicates He May Run for President

What might have been the first public hint that U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge will be a Republican candidate for the presidency came this morning at a press conference in Appleton.

In a letter to GOP State Chairman Talbot Peterson of Appleton from the U. S. Embassy in Saigon, South Viet Nam, Lodge said:

"I do not feel I have enough knowledge either of the Wisconsin law or of the situation in Wisconsin to pass judgment on the scheme which you describe.

Admires Byrnes
"But I do want to express my admiration for your distinguished congressman John W. Byrnes who well deserves his very high standing."

(The "scheme" referred to by Lodge was Peterson's request that all national GOP candidates stay out of the state primary in deference to the Byrnes "favorite son" slate.)

Peterson read Lodge's letter, dated Dec. 31, at a special news gathering being held to announce the "favorite son" candidacy of Byrnes, the Eighth District GOP congressman from Green Bay.

Words of Candidate
Republican officials present at the gathering commented that Lodge's statement sounded like the words of a candidate.

Peterson commented, when asked if Lodge's letter sounded like a candidate's letter, "It sure does."

In Boston, a spokesman for an unofficial headquarters for Lodge said "I'm sure that if he were asked, the ambassador would say he has no intention

11 Persons Die On State Roads Over Weekend

1964 Toll Grows
To 27 Compared With 11 Year Ago

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Eleven persons, including four in one crash, lost their lives in a tragic weekend on Wisconsin highways. Their deaths boosted the 1964 state fatality toll to 27, compared with 11 on this date last year.

Lloyd P. Conry, 64, of rural Fond du Lac. Mrs. William Ryan of Brookfield, about 50, and William Nicholas, 18, of Pawcatuck, Conn., were killed Sunday in a head-on crash on Highway 23 in the Fond du Lac County community of Rosendale. Two other persons were injured. Nicholas was a freshman at Ripon College.

Crash Fatal to 4
Mrs. Britta Felleeson, 54, of Sokie, Ill., died Saturday night and became the fourth victim of a two-car collision on Highway 36 west of Williams Bay in Walworth County. Other victims of the crash were James Davidson, 38, of Wauwatosa, his 34-year-old wife, Irene, and their four-year-old son, Arthur.

Davidson, driver of a station wagon, was the son of one of the founders of the Harley-Davidson Motor Co.

John Jackson, 49, of Milwaukee, was killed Friday night when his car struck a railing beside I-94 about six miles west of Kenosha.

Previously reported victims included Mrs. Florence Meissner, 40, of rural Edgar; Robert Sero, 49, of Lac du Flambeau; and Jacob P. Madsen, 73, of Kenosha.

Supreme Court to Take Jurisdiction in Desegregation Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to rule on requests that it take prompt, final action to reopen public schools of Prince Edward County, Va., on a desegregated basis by next September.

County education officials closed Prince Edward public schools in 1959 to avoid court-ordered desegregation.

The Prince Edward racial controversy has been in courts since May 1951. It was one of the original school desegregation cases decided by the Supreme Court in 1954.

The Supreme Court, in an unsigned order, said that "in view of the long delay in the case" since the 1954 decision, and the importance of the questions presented, it will hear arguments March 30 on the case.

The Supreme Court's order noted it was taking this step without waiting for final action in the case by the U.S. Circuit Court.

Arsonist Eludes Pursuit After He Sets Hotel Afire

NEW YORK (AP) — An arsonist set a fire that swept the Astor Hotel's grand ballroom today, then he fled when chased by hotel employees, officials said.

About 400 guests left their rooms as heavy smoke poured through the 11-story hotel, a Times Square area landmark. Damage was estimated at $1 million.

There were no injuries. Fire Commissioner Edward Thompson said the fire was definitely set.

"We have two witnesses who actually saw the man start the fire, and we have a good description of him," Thompson said. "These witnesses chased the man but they lost him."

Police described the firebug as being between 30 and 35 years old, about 6 feet tall and wearing a trench coat and glasses.

The fire apparently began in draperies along the empty ballroom's lower balcony.

Thompson said the arsonist apparently used "a device to spread the flames." He did not elaborate.

The fire broke out about midnight.

Johnson to Step Up Drive for Program

Message Expected to Stress Measures Asked by Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson was back at his White House desk today, preparing for what may be a grueling January-to-December job: trying to get Congress to enact his legislative program.

Johnson will fire his opening salvo Wednesday when he outlines his objectives in a State of the Union message. He is expected to urge the passage of key elements of the Kennedy administration program carried over from the last session—civil rights, tax reduction and health care for the elderly—and add some requests of his own.

Meets Rusk, McNamara
Relaxed after a 12-day work-and-play vacation at his Texas ranch, the President scheduled a conference with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and McGeorge Bundy, presidential adviser on national security affairs.

In his first days in office, Johnson was pretty much immune from political criticism. But now that the moratorium which followed President John F. Kennedy's assassination is over, political criticism is once more in vogue.

Johnson has promised economy in government without hampering the nation's space and defense efforts. Legislators will want to know how he intends to manage this.

Difficult Decisions
In the last days at his ranch, the chief executive put in long hours on a budget that he has said will be in the neighborhood of $100 billion and on his State of the Union message.

How these are received may indicate how much cooperation the one-time Senate Democratic leader is likely to get from his former congressional colleagues.

Stolen From Auto

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Thieves broke into Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez' car Sunday and took $450 in cameras and undeveloped photographs of the late President John F. Kennedy, taken during his trip to Texas.

Recent film of President Lyndon B. Johnson also was taken. Gonzalez said thieves pried open a window vent to enter his car on a downtown street.

But there were flickering hopes the West Berlin government could negotiate a new agreement with the Reds in talks scheduled to start this week.

The Western Allies, who are responsible for the security of West Berlin, have given their blessings to the talks. But they have warned Mayor Willy Brandt not to jeopardize the day for visits under a Christmas agreement negotiated between the West Berlin city government and the Communist East German regime. The crush was so big that tens of thousands returning to West Berlin were still waiting reunions to feed their propaganda mill, claiming the crossings were made possible by the Communist humanitarianism.

Under the expired agreement, only West Berliners with close relatives were permitted to make the crossings. For many the first time in years. The people were first family reunion or low voices. The eyes of many observed a Westerner.

Yachtsman Stabbed to Death in Home

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif.

(AP)—Police today probed the slaying of multimillionaire William W. Bartholomae, seeking to unravel the chain of events that left him stabbed to death in the blood-spattered kitchen of his luxurious bayfront home.

Booked on suspicion of murdering the 70-year-old yachtsman was his brother's wife, Carmen Gallardo Bartholomae, 25, a former Spanish dancer.

Hospitalized with a severely cut hand was Carmen's sister, Minola Gallardo, 32.

Bartholomae, whose cattle, oil and mining fortune was estimated at $11 million, was found Sunday morning with two stab wounds in his abdomen.

Knife Blade on Floor
On the floor beside him was his sister-in-law, who later told police she had fainted.

Between them lay the blood-smeared blade of an eight-inch butcher knife.

Police said Carmen gave this account: When Bartholomae, wearing a bathrobe and pajamas, entered the kitchen, Carmen was standing at the kitchen sink preparing breakfast.

"He didn't look good," she said. She said she remembers holding two knives and seeing Bartholomae "tumbling" before she fainted.

17-Day Agreement Expires

Berlin Wall Sealed After Happy Reunions and Mournful Partings

BY JOHN G. KOEHLER

BERLIN (AP) — The East German Communists sealed the Berlin wall again today, ending 17 days of joyous family reunions and heart-breaking partings.

A record number of more than a quarter million West Berliners poured into the Communist zone Sunday — the last day for visits under a Christmas agreement negotiated between the West Berlin city government and the Communist East German regime. The crossings started Dec. 19.

The crush was so big that tens of thousands returning to West Berlin were still waiting reunions to feed their propaganda mill, claiming the crossings were made possible by the Communist humanitarianism.

"I wish I had not gone over there," sobbed a 43-year-old West Berlin optician after returning from a reunion with his wife. "The parting with my wife was horrible. We don't know when we will see each other again."

A worker who returned with his wife and baby after seeing his parents said: "We cried and cried. The wounds were opened again. We had become used to being separated from my mother and father. Of course, my (grand) mother was happy, but the farewell...please don't ask me any more."

Trains Packed
"Enough tears flowed during these days to wash the wall away," said one West Berliner. Elevated trains coming from East Berlin's Friedrich Strasse station were packed tightly for the first time in years. The people were quiet or talked only in low voices. The eyes of many women were red from crying.

Every Woman Should Have Affair—With Her Husband

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Whenever I read a letter in your column about middle-aged women having affairs with married men I have to smile. I am 33 and I've been having an affair with a married man for 12 years. This is not a large city and we go everywhere together. I wouldn't give him up for the world. He is kind, generous, handsome and treats me with respect and consideration. He hands over his uncashed paycheck every week.

No man, regardless of looks, wealth or social position could interest me nor could my love be charmed away by another woman. He is the most important person in my life and I have dedicated myself to keeping him in love with me. I am secure, content and at peace—because he is my husband. —Set For Life

DEAR SET: Thank you for an unusual letter. Any woman who writes, "He is the most important person in my life and I have dedicated myself to keeping him in love with me," can't miss.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You visited our city recently and in the newspaper writeup about you it was noted that you have a rare faculty for remembering names.

The inability to remember names has been a problem all my life and it has caused me a great deal of embarrassment. Do you have some sort of a "secret system"? If so, will you do a lot of people a big favor and pass it on? Thank you in advance for any help you can offer. —Hole in my Head

Dear Head: The chief reason people are unable to remember names is because they fail to get the name right when they are introduced. Make it a point to ASK that the name be repeated if you don't get it the first time. No one will be offended. It's flattering, in fact, because it indicates you're interested.

Use the name in your first sentence to that person and associate his name with something about the individual. For example, if the woman's name is Mrs. Bekin and she has a pointed nose (like a beak), you're home free. If the man's name is Mr. Tallman and he happens to be a shrimp, well—make a mental note that Mr. Tallman is not tall at all and that his name doesn't fit.

Deliver me from the mental cripple who makes no effort to remember a name then tries to excuse himself by saying, "but I never forget a face."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I moved back to this city after having left it as newlyweds 12 years ago. My mother and two sisters live here. They are "the problem." The first week my mother and sisters virtually took over my house and family. I thought they were trying to be helpful but now I realize they are attempting to involve themselves in my daily life on a continuing basis.

They want my husband and me to visit them every evening or else they ask if they can come here. My mother and sisters have no friends and claim they don't need friends because they have each other.

I don't want that kind of life. I find my relatives thoroughly boring and so does my husband. How can we free ourselves from them without creating resentment? —Hog Tied

Dear Tied: Forget about working this out without resentment. It can't be done.

The only way to free yourself from the clutches of domineering relatives is to get busy with friends and activities. Tell your relatives when they call that you have plans for the evening. Before long they'll get the picture.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright 1964) esse, but it's worse to hear a smug opponent tell you his picture card would have dropped if you had refused the finesse.

West takes the top spades and leads a third spade to kill dummy's queen. East ruffs, and you over-ruff.

You lead a diamond to dummy's king and return the jack of hearts for a finesse. West wins and returns a heart, defying you to win the rest of the tricks.

If you are a normal skillful player you draw one more round of trumps and cash the three top clubs. When the clubs fail to break, you lead a diamond from dummy to finesse with the jack.

This loses to the queen, and you must endure all the witticisms that occur to your opponents and all the complaints that issue from your partner. Perhaps, after all, solitaire is a better game than bridge.

Should Not Lose
Don't admit a thing, but the fact is you should not lose the diamond finesse in this hand. You should capture the doubleton queen.

After drawing trumps, lead your last trump and discard a low diamond from dummy. Then cash the three top clubs, ending in dummy.

When the clubs fail to break, all hands are down to two cards. Dummy has a club and a diamond; you have the ace-jack of diamonds.

You lead dummy's diamond; and East follows with the ten. You know that East's other card is the jack of clubs, so that you cannot possibly gain by finessing with the jack of diamonds from your hand. Hence you play the ace of diamonds and happen to drop the queen.

Leading your last trump at an early stage didn't really squeeze anybody, but it made the last two tricks very clear and prevented you from taking a losing finesse.

Ideas Day' Set by Memorial Auxiliary

With their successful 1963 Holiday Berry Bazaar behind them, members of Appleton Memorial Hospital Auxiliary are already making initial plans for the next holiday event. An 'Ideas Day' is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday in the conference room of the hospital.

Allow Air to Escape Quick Bread Batter

Some cooks like to cut through quick-bread batter after it is in a loaf pan to let air bubbles escape. Same technique that is used in making angel food cake. But don't overdo the cutting! Once through the batter is enough!

Members have been invited to bring their ideas for handmade articles to the room between 8 and 9 a.m. so that they may be tagged and displayed. Plans for the day have been completed by Mrs. Paul Cunningham, auxiliary president, and the retiring co-chairmen of the Ideas Committee, Mrs. John Shepard and Mrs. Clarence Zelle. Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery. In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months! In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body. This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

Battery Acid Stain On Carpet

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN
Q: The liquid from a flashlight battery stained a beige rug. Now what do I do?
A: Don't risk the cleaning equivalent of "sending a boy to do a man's job." This is no time for amateur experimenting, even if you should happen to know all the types of fibers in the carpet and their reactions to different cleaning liquids. In short, turn this cleaning job over to a competent professional.

Q: We want to re-enamel the woodwork in our bathroom and upstairs hall. How can we determine how much enamel we'll have to get?

A: Measure the length of baseboards, window frames, etc. Allowing a "bisque" or two, or some relatively generous leeway, a fair rule of thumb is a pint of enamel per 100 feet. This is on the basis of narrow-to-middlin' width trim, and a smooth surface.

Q: Last year we used rock salt on our red brick steps to melt snow. Ever since there have been white stains which we have not been able to remove, although they temporarily vanish during wet weather. Is there any way the stains can be removed? Is it all right to use the salt on the brick steps again this winter?

A: Brick, being so porous, allows salt penetration. Hence the annoying white stain. Usually this will give up after scrubbing with a strong detergent solution and stiff-bristled brush. Sure, you can use more salt again this winter, if you're that fond of scrubbing brick steps. Personally, I prefer the nonstaining snow-melting preparations now so widely available at hardware and housewares dealers.

Q: We recently bought a number of silver serving pieces at a country auction. How can we determine whether these are sterling or silver plate?

Sheet Buying Tips for Use At White Sales

A bargain isn't a bargain un-less it does the work it's sup-posed to. This year's traditional "white sales" are featuring some of the most colorful and fashion-wise household linens in many years. Vari-colored tow-el sets, pastel decorator patterned sheets and pillowcases share the spotlight with the conven-tional white sale offerings. How-ever, look for quality as well as style and attractive price tags at these sales. Since your in-vestment in linens is consider-able it would be well worth your time to select carefully.

Towel Tips

When purchasing towels, the colorfast ones are the best buy. All towels don't hold their col-ors after laundering. Choose close, large, loosely-twisted and thickly-packed loops, which in-dicate that the towel will be ab-sorbent and give good service. Also, observe, feel and pull the different sections to make sure that all stretch equally. Uneven-tension can cause towel parts to pucker or become distorted af-ter laundering.

Look For Sizing

Here are a few hints on how to be a smart shopper when buying linens. Watch for heavy sizing, which is a filler material used in loosely woven fabrics. Heav-ily-sized items especially in sheets and pillowcases have a good appearance when new. However, after laundering the sizing is gone and the item be-comes very limp. To check for sizing, rub the fabric lightly. If out use often weakens the fibers a powdery substance appears,

The small apartment's prob-lems are usual space shortage, lack of hall, and need for dis-guised sleeping comfort. They are met in the most forthright manner by modern furniture and a tall screen stabilized to the article contains too much sizing.

Know the correct size sheets to buy so that bedding will fit properly. Allow ample material for tucking. Correct size means more comfort and better wear.

For quality linens, look for threads that are evenly woven and of the same thickness. Check sheeting for firm, com-pact selvedge edges and hems that are straight with even stitching.

The best measure of quality merchandise is the Certified Washable Seal of the American Institute of Laundering. The Seal is awarded only to manufactur-ers' items that have passed rig-id laundry tests for shrinkage, colorfastness to sunlight and to washing, and general appear-ance.

In caring for your bedding in your linen closet, remember to rotate the use of the sheets. The easiest way to do this is to place the freshly laundered sheets on top and take those for bedmak-ing from the bottom of the stack. Sheets will have a longer life through a rotation of regular use because prolonged creasing with-out use often weakens the fibers at the fold.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

LOGICAL RULE-BREAKING
Dear Louise: My fiance and I, both widower and widow in our late forties, are to be quietly married in two weeks in the chapel of my church. We have asked our families and about 20 close friends to attend the ceremony. Our plan was to leave the church immediately for a brief wedding trip. However, these close friends whom we invited, in-formed us that they insist on bringing refreshments to my apartment for an informal gath-ering afterwards. I was touched and thrilled to think that they really wanted to do it. Then I began to think that if there is to be any kind of social gather-ing, I should be the one to do it. I asked my friends if they would give us a couple of days to think it over before saying yes or no. There's where you come in. Should we let them?

Louise Davis Answers:
I am touched too at such genuine friendship and thought-fulness. Even if such a party plan is untraditional, go ahead and let your friends entertain for you in your apartment.

INTUITION AS GUIDE

Dear Louise: After I am mar-ried, what relation to me will my husband's brother's wife be?

I haven't met her yet, but when I do, should I call her by her first name?

Louise Davis Answers:
You will be sisters-in-law to each other. When you meet for the first time, your intuition will guide you about the name. "How do you do," plus a few friendly greetings, is always safe but I'm certain that you both will be on a first name basis im-mediately.

NO NEED FOR GIFT

Dear Louise: We have been invited to an Open House by a couple who were quietly married last spring. We sent a gift for receiving the marriage an-nouncement. Are we expected to take another one to the party?

Louise Davis Answers:
No. You sent a gift and there is no reason to get another. Even if you discover that other friends bring gifts to the Open House, there is no need for you to be embarrassed by coming empty-handed. An pen House is a social get-together and doesn't call for gift bringing un-less the invitation states that it will be to celebrate a special occasion such as a birthday or an anniversary.

Banana Pudding

No need to frost a banana cake if you serve it soon after it comes from the oven. Treat it like a pudding: cut it in squares and pass a lemon sauce. The pudding-cake may be fur-ther embellished for company by adding an extra accompani-ment of whipped cream or whipped soft cream cheese. A little finely grated lemon rind will look pretty sprinkled over the cream or cheese.

TAFFY'S TIPS

By Dolly Martin

THINK FOR YOURSELF

Can you think for yourself rather than be easily influenced by others? Or are you a follow-er of the crowd and anything that is fine for them is all right for you? There are times when following the crowd is right and conforming to accepted rules of good behavior commendable, but don't react like a trained puppy and appear to need a master to guide your every thought and action. Think things out for yourself and start mak-ing decisions on your own. Let your capabilities and personal-ity develop to the fullest. Show that you have a mind of your own. Be willing to work over-time if necessary to be the unique individual that you are and let someone else follow the leader.

Gronouski Status Seems Assured Despite Presidential Succession

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Because a new president is entitled to choose his own cabinet, it is supposed here in the old haunts of Postman General John Gronouski that he was among those who submitted token resignations to President Lyndon Johnson last month.

But Gronouski's statehouse circle of friends has the impression that he intends to stay in his big Washington job and that there are encouraging signs he will be able to do so.

In any event, the former state department of taxation head would find little difficulty finding employment. Gov. Reynolds would reinstate him instantly in a good place in the state government. During the last couple of years there were some stories that Gronouski at some time in his career would like to run for elective office. Finally, he was trained as a teacher, and it is unlikely that a man leaving the cabinet of the United States government would have any difficulty in finding a good berth on a college faculty.

Wisconsin state colleges, following the recent example of the University of Wisconsin, are preparing a centennial history of the state college system. The volume is expected to be published in 1966. The work is under the general direction of Walker Wyman, a former teacher of history who is now president of the state college at Whitewater.

Milwaukee Mayor

The careful effort of Mayor Henry Maier of Milwaukee to avoid a contest for re-election to the leadership of the Milwaukee city government has apparently paid off. The principal potential opponents of the mayor have declined to run.

With a clear path for a second term for the highest office in the state's largest city, the mayor is likely to become more active in Democratic partisan politics. He has been removed from active party work for a couple of years. His consent to take part in the preparations for a slate of delegate candidates pledged to President Johnson in the Wisconsin spring primary is apparently the signal.

Maier is one of the most ambitious men in public life in Wisconsin and has always aspired to high state-wide office, either the governorship or a seat in the U.S. senate. He made one try for the senate, in 1956, with discouraging results.

The volunteer campaign for President Johnson also includes in a conspicuous way the name of David Rabinovitz of Sheboygan, Democratic national committeeman for Wisconsin, apparently as a kind of signal that Rabinovitz wants to earn the gratitude of the new president just as he earned the appreciation of the late President Kennedy for his political work here in 1960.

The status of Rabinovitz as candidate for the vacant federal judgeship in western Wisconsin remains one of the most sensitive questions in Wisconsin Democratic politics. The problem is not only one of getting a renomination from the new president. It is how to get the blessing of the U.S. Senate judiciary committee for the Sheboygan lawyer-politician even if the White House resubmits his name.

Senator Leonard
Sen. Jerris Leonard, the hard-fighting Republican state senator from Milwaukee, will run for re-election to his present seat. He had considered a candidacy for a state office, but has decided against it.

His district is probably safe for the Republicans, but it is not quite as secure for the GOP under the legislative reapportionment program as it once was. Whether the reapportionment legislation will become effective remains to be settled by the state supreme court.

Recent accounts of the political views of Secretary of State Robert Zimmerman related that his late father — who held his office before him — "shunned" the Republican party organization.

Such an impression misses the reality by a considerable measure. It was the party organization which "shunned" the elder Zimmerman, by rejecting him as a candidate for re-election to the governorship in 1928. Fred R. Zimmerman had served one term when the party elders decided to run the late Walter J. Kohler Sr. against him for the party nomination in 1928. Kohler won and Zimmerman's career went into eclipse. Not until a decade later did he return to the capitol, in the lesser office of secretary of state.

State Court Clerk

The only ranking state capitol personality who was passed over for a pay raise by the legislature in 1963 was Franklin Clarke, who handles the front office affairs of the state supreme court as its clerk.

But there is nothing to show that the omission represented any animus on the part of the legislative leadership. The probable explanation is that Clarke eral, is also contemplating the prospective vacancy in the office of Dane County district attorney. It's the position his famous grandfather, Robert M. LaFollette Sr., held before the turn of the century, in which his uncle Philip also launched his considerable career. The incumbent district attorney is running for Dane County judge.

Bronson C. LaFollette, urged by some leading Democrats to run for attorney general, is also contemplating the prospective vacancy in the office of Dane County district attorney. It's the position his famous grandfather, Robert M. LaFollette Sr., held before the turn of the century, in which his uncle Philip also launched his considerable career. The incumbent district attorney is running for Dane County judge.

Contrary to expectations of many Democrats, David Carley, Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor in 1962, does not intend to run for office this year. He apparently is content in his job as head of a new mortgage insurance company founded about a year ago which is now negotiating a merger with another group in the field.

In reply to a question from a reader: The first name of J. Louis Hanson, the Democratic state chairman, is John.

Burglar Arrested After Chase by Shorts-Clad Pursuer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Edward A. Ellis, 42, woke up Sunday morning and heard someone prowling through his apartment. Wearing only his under-shorts, Ellis chased the burglar into the street.

The robber dropped Ellis wallet, hoping it would lure him to stop. It didn't.

The thief got to Biscayne Boulevard, one of Miami's main streets, and hailed a cab, with Ellis only a few steps behind.

Driver Henry Simpson, a retired police officer, calmly drove his passenger to the nearest squad car. Marion Anderson, 28, was charged with burglary.

British Air Freighter Makes Maiden Flight

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Britain's biggest air freighter, the 100-ton Belfast, made a successful maiden flight Sunday.

The Belfast is designed to carry more than 200 fully armed troops. Alternative loads are three tanks or 24 light helicopters.

A civilian version is on the drawing boards. The makers claim it could take 350 passengers across the Atlantic and bring fares down to $85 for a one-way trip.

Soldiers From Birth

Viet Cong Guerrillas
Live Life in Battle

SAIGON. South Viet Nam defeat, one must go underground. The tough, young Viet namese lieutenant fired three pistol shots into the ground, inches from the child's feet, and shouted:

"Where did your parents take their rifles? If you don't answer I will shoot through your foot."

The 9-year-old boy stood motionless, his eyes in a fixed glare. One of his hands was broken, with bone through the skin. He had been caught running from a deserted cluster of huts with two grenades in his pockets and a coil of mine wire over his shoulder.

He didn't say a word. The goal is not victory by 1965. There is no time limit. The dedicated Viet Cong seems willing to fight a lifetime, if necessary. Or his sons will carry on the fight.

Saigons Enemy That is the enemy the Saigon government and its American ally are trying to liquidate, spending $500 million and 4,000 lives a year.

Why does this enemy go on fighting, even in the face of modern weapons and bloody losses?

Part of the reason is economic. Under the French colonial regime, few peasants owned land. Most worked as tenant farmers, paying heavy taxes to landlords.

Red Reforms In 1955-56, after South Viet Nam was independent, the Ngo Dinh Diem government proclaimed major land reforms. But the Communists already had carried out land reforms of their own, long before the final defeat of the French. The new reforms came too late.

The Communists had done much more. They had an administrative system of provincial, district and village commissars. They had staffed schools with trained political cadres. They levied taxes and raised a guerrilla army—the People's Self-defense Forces of the National Liberation Front.

Austere Life Life in the Viet Cong hamlets was austere and sometimes dangerous, but no worse than life in most hamlets in the delta. There was always plenty to eat from the fish-glutted canals, the rich rice fields and the fertile orchards.

The war is ugly, but there usually is plenty of respite from fighting. The average Viet Cong territorial guerrilla spends most of his time working on his crops with his family. War comes when a party leader orders an attack on an outpost, or when government troops make a raid.

Life in the Viet Cong begins at birth in the Mekong River delta. The Communists have been organizing the delta since 1940. Many of the best troops in the Viet Cong's 314th Battalion were born of guerrilla parents.

For many, being a Viet Cong guerrilla is not merely fighting for a cause. It is a way of life.

Victory Parades When there has been a military victory and times are good, one can organize openly, and even hold victory parades in towns, as the Viet Cong has been doing.

When there has been a bad

Woman Dubious of Admirer's Intentions COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Columbus woman is a bit puzzled about the dubious favors of a secret admirer.

Laura Williams, 51, told police she received 10 telephone calls Sunday from an unidentified man, who she believes was responsible for sending two fire department squads, two taxi cabs and the delivery of two pizzas to her home.

She said she started receiving calls from the man in October, received none last month and they resumed again New Year's Day.

New Year's Resolutions

Perfection Not Gained By Keeping Single Vow

BY HAL BOYLE NEW YORK (AP) — Perfection is not gained by a single vow.

Nor is it necessarily achieved by a thousand righteous self-promises.

That is the mistake many people make when the time comes for those annual New Year resolutions.

"I hereby resolve—" they say, putting pen to paper. Then they scribble down a seemingly endless series of vows to do better, vows that would tax the performance of a saint in a long and dedicated lifetime.

Clear Underbrush Instead of trying to cut down the forest of his faults all at once, why not first start by merely clearing away a bit of the underbrush? Instead of vowing what you're going to do, why not vow to do without?

Anyway, that's the way we've decided to improve ourselves during the coming year.

What are we going to give up? Oh, lots and lots of things. We're going to pare life down to the true clean bone.

As a starter, we're going to give up hula hoops, yo-yos, and dancing the Charleston.

We're going to go right on doing without cigarettes and go right on smoking cigars.

We're giving up caviar—hate the stuff anyway—and pink champagne.

As to those four-martini, three-hour lunches, we're jettisoning them for sure. A man who can't eat his fill during a two-hour lunch is probably wasting too much time talking and not paying enough attention to his plate.

No Kissing We're going to give up kissing pretty girls in the office locker room. After all, by the time a fellow manages to chase and corner one, he's too tired out to enjoy the fun.

We're going to quit telling the boss how to run the firm. When you come right down to it, isn't he really entitled to make his own mistakes in his own inimitable way?

We're going to quit promising to take our wife out at least once a week. All this year we're going to promise to take her out at least two evenings a week. Maybe even three. When it comes to promising, why be a tightwad?

Those are a few of our goals for 1964. Already we feel much, much better.

A little self-denial is good for any man. But not too much. A fellow who becomes perfect all of a sudden becomes a stranger to himself, and who wants to live with a stranger?

Johnson Trial to be Held Late in January

Menasha Mayor Files Papers For Re-Election

John Klein to Seek Third Term as City Executive in April

MENASHA — Incumbent Mayor John Klein this morning became the first official candidate for the city executive post in the April 7 election when he filed completed nomination papers with City Clerk Harry Kind.

Klein becomes the ninth person to officially enter the election. Nineteen persons have either taken out nomination papers or filed.

The mayor, who is seeking his third term in office, has served a total of nine years in the city administration, five years as alderman and four as mayor.

He currently is on the executive committee of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Committee and a member of the resolution committee of the Wisconsin League of Municipalities.

Klein was responsible for completion of the Menasha storm sewer project and instrumental in getting the state to come forth with definite action on the long-talked about lower lake bridge.

So far he is unopposed in the April 7 election. Early rumors of possible candidates have not been confirmed.

OSHKOSH — Circuit Judge Arnold J. Cane today set Monday, Jan. 27, for the trial of Larry Johnson, 25, 1100 Mayer St., Menasha, for attempted murder.

Johnson had pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity on Dec. 9 and the case was transferred from county court to circuit court because a 12-man jury trial had been requested.

He is charged with the shooting of his brother-in-law, Ramon John, 34, 525 Second St., Menasha, at the Wayside Inn Tavern in the Town of Menasha on the night of Nov. 20.

The two and three other fellow workers had been playing "poker pool" at the tavern and Johnson left for awhile and then returned to the tavern, shooting John when he returned, according to testimony at the preliminary hearing conducted in November by County Judge James Sitter.

Examination Judge Cane said this morning that he would not send Johnson to Central State Hospital for observation as had been once considered because of the insanity plea. He said he had appointed Dr. John T. Petersik, psychiatrist and former superintendent of Winnebago State Hospital, to examine Johnson and was now in receipt of Dr. Petersik's report.

Judge Cane said the trial was being tentatively set for the week beginning Jan. 27 and would be definitely set at the calling of the circuit court calendar on Monday afternoon, Jan. 13.

Lawrence Professor Kenneth Sager Seeks School Board Post

Kenneth R. Sager, an assistant professor at Lawrence College, has taken out nomination papers for school board in the April 7 election.

Sager, who resides at 525 Douglas St., was formerly head of the social science department at Appleton High School.

Two school board posts will be filled at the spring election. Sager is the second Appleton resident to circulate nomination papers.

In other pre-election activity, Ald. Derald Ahrens, 731 E. Hancock St., filed papers and will be seeking reelection as Second Ward alderman, a post he has held for two years.

Menasha Town Construction Tops $2 Million

Building Pace Falls $1.7 Million From Level Reached in '62

MENASHA — Town of Menasha building construction in 1963 remained over the $2 million mark although construction dropped $1,708,600 from the year before.

Last year's building permits totaled $2,036,150, according to Edwin P. Harold, Town of Menasha building inspector and assessor. The 1962 construction total was $3,744,750 in value.

A $1 million office for Home Mutuals and a major construction at the George Banta Co. Midway plant, plus the new factory for Great Northern Container Co., helped to swell the 1962 construction total. There were no such major projects last year.

The 188 building permits issued by Harold last year represented an increase of nine over the previous year.

The 76 new homes authorized for construction last year were valued for building permit purposes at $1,339,100 which is a drop of 16 permits and $44,400 in value from the previous year.

Permits issued for residential zones in the town included 67 homes worth $1,214,100, 46 garages costing $47,000 and 19 miscellaneous permits worth $72,100 for a total of 132 permits and $1,333,200 in construction. The previous year had 119 permits for $1,267,900 in value, showing a gain for last year of 13 permits and $65,300 more in construction.

The agricultural zoned parts of the town had nine home permits for a total of $125,000 in value, six garages for $6,400 and five miscellaneous permits for $10,800 in costs, or a total of 20 permits for $142,200 in construction. This is six less permits and $42,400 less in construction than in 1962 where there were 26 permits and $184,600 in construction authorized.

International Mezzo Soprano To Perform at Lawrence Chapel

Concert Program of Famed Grace Bumbry Will be Second in Community Series

Grace Bumbry, St. Louis-born mezzo-soprano who in the past three seasons has surged to the heights of world fame, will appear in concert at Lawrence Memorial Chapel at 8:15 p.m. Monday, Jan. 13. Her program will be the second of the current Lawrence - Community Artist Series season.

Miss Bumbry captured international headlines in 1961 when she became the first Negro artist ever to be engaged to sing at the Bayreuth Festival in Bavaria. Her role of Venus in White House dinner for the Vice President, Speaker of the House and Supreme Court. At the program's close her audience of major U.S. dignitaries paid their tribute with a standing ovation.

One more great triumph cemented Miss Bumbry's artistic image. In June of 1962 she made her Royal Opera House debut as Princess Eboli in "Don Carlo." London's Covent Garden audience received her with what was described as "one of the greatest ovations in London history."

Rise to Fame

This lightning rise to fame came as the result of a quiet but exceptional series of events early in her career. Miss Bumbry was educated in public schools of St. Louis and later at Northwestern University. She was a protégée of the great soprano Lotte Lehman, and a recipient of Marian Anderson and John Hay Whitney awards.

In 1959 she went to Paris to study with Pierre Bernac. There, in 1960, she made her debut at the Paris Opera as Amneris in "Aida," and followed shortly with Carmen. When the Paris Opera went to Tokyo in the fall of 1961, Grace Bumbry was its star.

Operatic and concert engagements throughout Germany, France and Switzerland continued as she centered herself in Basel, Switzerland. The Bayreuth Festival role came next, and then her White House and London triumphs.

Chicago Debut In 1962, Sol Hurok, the American impresario, signed her to a $250,000 contract. She was heard America to sing at a gala

Grace Bumbry

"Tannhauser" electrified continental audiences and assured her a prominent place in European concert halls and opera houses the succeeding year.

In February of 1962 came the 26-year-old singer's biggest moment. At the request of Mrs. John F. Kennedy, she flew to America to sing at a gala the next season in 29 U.S. cities.

On Capital Improvements

American Can to Spend $100 Million in 1964

NEW YORK — American Can Co. today indicated its confidence in the continued growth of the national economy in 1964 when William C. Stolk, chairman of the board, disclosed that estimated capital expenditures of the company would be more than $100 million over the next 12 months.

He emphasized that estimated 1964 capital expenditures were in line with the American Can Co.'s continuing expansion and diversification program, both nationally and internationally.

The economy seems to be catching its breath after the tragic assassination of President Kennedy, with the very strong indication that it will continue to climb in 1964, the American Can executive said. Continued business growth under President Johnson could result in many industries reaching new peaks in 1964, he added.

Marathon Division

In addition to continued expansion and diversification in 1964, Mr. Stolk said that the American Can Company would place greater emphasis on the consumer market, particularly with products from its Marathon and Dixie Cup Divisions. Marketed under the Marathon Division's brand name of Northern are facial and bathroom tissues as well as paper towels and napkins. Dixie has a line of consumer paper products including Dixie cups and plates.

Mr. Stolk also emphasized that continuing innovations in packaging of all kinds, including pop-top aluminum beer cans; vacuum, convenience-opening, foil-tape coffee cans; easy puncture carbonated beverage cans; Tufty milk cartons of laminated plastic and cardboard; throw-away Chug-A-Mug beer bottles; and literally dozens of others will continue to give impetus to the growth rate of the packaging industry.

Scolding Locks Workers 'Kidnap' Former Leader

Several Scolding Locks Corp. co-workers abducted retiring executive vice president D. C. Evans Saturday night in a company truck and took him to a testimonial party at the home of Corwin VanHousen, company president.

Evans is retiring from his executive post but remaining with the firm as a member of the board of directors and consultant to the engineering department.

W. M. Englehaupt was named to fill the vice presidential post. Robert T. Hansen has been named assistant general manager and assistant sales manager, and Peter F. Skaer has been named personnel manager and purchasing agent.

Also been career highlights. Two early ones, the Bach "Actus Tragicus" and Handel "Messiah" were sung in the Church of the Madeleine, Paris, and to hear her sing, and when she made deep impressions on the in tribute. The choir girl had become one of the golden voices of her time.

Miss Bumbry's appearances this season began with a Carnegie Hall recital on Jan. 5, and continue with concerts throughout the U.S. and major European cities.

Tickets for her program here are available at Belling Pharmacy, 204 E. College Ave.

Girl, 16, Frostbitten After Stay in Barn

WAUPACA — A 16-year-old Scandinavian area girl who told authorities she was afraid to go home after staying out too late was being treated at the Iowa hospital for frostbite today.

The girl spent Friday night in a barn on the Julian Madson farm near here.

Undersheriff William Mork said the girl and two other young people passed the girl's home about 1:30 a.m. Saturday.

He said, because it was late, she said she was afraid to go into the house and asked for a ride to Waupaca.

Parted Company

The other young people decided against taking her to Waupaca and parted company.

Mork said she started walking to Waupaca and came to the Knute Ugeland farm, route 1, Scandinavia, and went into the barn there. She then went into the garage and started backing out the Ugeland car. She damaged the garage door and got the car stuck in the snow.

The girl then went to the Madson farm where she spent the remainder of the night.

Mork said the girl was referred to the custody of juvenile authorities. He said she suffered frozen toes.

Laird referred to the President's call for economy in operations of the government and said:

"At the same time President Johnson will ask the Congress for new spending authority for fiscal 1965 of about $100 billion, for the first time in our history."

"Since this represents an increase over what President Kennedy requested last year, thoughtful citizens are asking where the economizing is taking place."

Laird, a member of the House Appropriations Committee, said Kennedy a year ago sent Congress a budget calling for $98.8 billion for the fiscal year ending next June 30.

Congress, Laird said, actually appropriated only $92.6 billion, a reduction of $6.2 billion from Kennedy's request.

"This simply means that the new President's request for about $100 billion this year represents an actual increase over last year's appropriations of about $7.4 billion," Laird said.

"That is not economy."

"The only way one can meaningfully evaluate an administration's desire for economy is by comparing proposed spending requests with those approved by the Congress for the previous year."

"When we do this, we find, regretfully, that an 'economy' budget of about $100 billion for fiscal year 1965 in no way represents real economy."

$85,200 Building In Grand Chute

Town of Grand Chute construction totaled $85,200 in December, Building Inspector Robert Van Handel said today.

Van Handel broke this total down to five homes at $78,000, three garages, $2,800, one remodeling job, $3,000, and one mobile home, $1,400.

He said total construction for the year was $2,201,096, with 190 permits having been issued.

This included 71 new homes valued at $1,073,100, 20 industrial and commercial buildings, $1,038,250; 38 residential garages, $36,421; 16 signs and billboards, $10,475; 12 farm buildings, $16,500; two silos, $5,800; and eight remodeling jobs, $20,900.

Two Appletton Girls Serving As Interns in State Schools

Two Appletton girls are among 180 undergraduates and graduates of the University of Wisconsin serving as interns during this school year in the UW School of Education's fifth year teacher internship program.

Miss Mary E. Captaine, 2031 S. Kernan Ave., who will graduate from UW in June, is serving her teacher-training internship at Washington Park High School in Racine. Miss Carol J. Johnson 812 E. Frances St., a UW graduate with a major in sociology, is serving her internship at Wilson School in Janesville.

The Wisconsin Internship Program is one outgrowth of an intensified search for means of improving teacher education. It has been a part of the UW School of Education program since 1960 when it was launched on a limited scale with the cooperation of several school systems. During this school year 22 schools are cooperating in the program.

Two Runaways From Menasha Apprehended By Alabama Police

MENASHA — Two 16-year-old Menasha girls who ran away from home New Year's Eve have been apprehended and are being held by Anniston, Ala., police.

Police Chief Lester Clark, Menasha, this morning said the two will be returned to Menasha and face the possibility of being charged as run-aways.

Only one of the girls had been reported as missing.

One was released recently from the Wisconsin State reformatory for girls.

Because both are juveniles, Wisconsin law does not permit use of their names publicly.

Incumbent Supervisor Files; Fourth Ward Alderman Takes Papers

NEENAH — Papers were filed Monday in Neenah for an incumbent candidate for Ninth Ward county supervisor, and papers were taken out by an incumbent Fourth Ward alderman.

Two Explosion Victims Relate What Happened

CRANDON — "I thought I was the last one out and was so thankful. . . but then I looked back and saw Laurence Rempert crawling over a table and calling 'help me'."

The statement was made by Mrs. Fred Doreau, Crandon, one of nine persons injured when an explosion rocked Moon's Laundromat in Crandon Saturday afternoon. Two men, Rempert, and Edward (Moon) Jepson, owner of the self-service laundry, are still hospitalized.

Heard Hissing Gas

The pair were in the rear of the building where Rempert, a Three Lakes gas serviceman, was attempting to fix a propane gas regulator, when the explosion occurred. Rempert is in fair condition today with second and third degree burns on his chest, face and hands, and Jepson was listed in good condition by authorities at St. Mary Hospital in Rhinelander.

Mrs. Doreau was injured by flying objects which caused minor cuts and bruises to her face and hands. She and another woman, Mrs. Gary Bradley, heard the hissing of gas and smelled the fumes before the explosion. She gave this account of the explosion.

"I've been thrown by two explosions from my own gas stove. Just before the blast I told Rita (Mrs. Bradley) 'I'm getting ready to run in case it blows' and it did. There was a tremendous force and a solid hot blast. I thought at first I was blind, I didn't hear anyone scream but I ran into the wash room where the window was partially open. Just after the roof raised, flames swirled in from outside and I thought it time to evacuate the building."

"I thought I was the last one out and was so thankful everyone had escaped. But then I looked back and saw Laurence Rempert through the window. He had crawled over the top of the table from the store room and called 'Someone help me get a doctor.' That's when my legs got weak as he looked as if he had been badly burned."

Another Account

Another account of the explosion was given by Mrs. Bradley who had her two children, Scotty, 2, and Glenda, 5, with her at the time. She said:

"The steel door to the storage room was partly ajar and we could hear the hiss of gas and smell it. I decided it was time to get the kids out so I bent over Scotty to fasten his hood. Then it happened."

"As the door struck me (a large steel door from the storage room which was blown off) I felt a searing through my whole body and I fell across a chair. Then as I was regaining consciousness, someone stepped on me as they dashed for the outside. Scotty was crying and I crawled on my hands and knees to try and find the kids. I got Scotty and got outside and Glenda was there assuring me she was alright."

Searched To Slacks

"They had to pull one of the chairs (a small steel chair used by customers) off of me as it was seared to my slacks."

Mrs. Bradley sustained a deep gash on the back of her head, where she was hit by the door, which required five stitches. In addition, she suffered a slight concussion and minor burns. The children had singed hair and eyebrows from the fire.

Other injured were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Finney and Mrs. Jack Dawson, all of Laona, who were taken to the Laona Oritz Hospital and later released with minor burns and cuts.

Local 1035, Menasha Contract Talks Stall

MENASHA — Local 1035, City of Menasha employees union, AFL-CIO, and city officials have moved almost a week in to 1964 without coming to terms on a new work contract. There are scant indications one will be settled on early in 1964.

Mayor John Klein this morning said he has not been contacted by union officials, specifically Robert Swanson, union representative, to set up a new meeting to negotiate a contract for this year.

Negotiations fell apart in early December when members of the city council used up most of their time in working on the 1964 municipal budget.

The city stood firm on two offers to the union — a new vacation schedule and a pay raise equivalent to that other city employees received — but the union indicated it is not satisfied and wants more.

Officials originally asked for a 3 per cent pay raise and a cut in work hours from 42½ to 40 with no reduction in pay among other things.

No Agreement

If no agreement can be reached on a new contract the 1963 work contract automatically stays in effect. However, no one has been designated to determine when negotiations have broken down.

Union officials have already received what the city offered.

New Twist to Old Game—Ticktacktoe by Memory

BY CAPPY DICK

Here's a new angle to the old game of ticktacktoe. Play it by memory.

Draw a big ticktacktoe chart on wrapping paper and hang it on the wall as the players have done in the adjoining sketch.

To illustrate how the game is played, let's say the two competitors are Sally and Ben. Sally starts the game by pointing to the middle space of the first column. Sally makes no "X" or "O" in that square, but leaves it blank. The referee, however, makes a real "X" (Sally's mark) on the small chart he has made for himself because he must have an accurate diagram of what the two competitors are trying to remember.

After Sally's first play it is Ben's turn. Let's suppose he points to the top square of the third column. The referee records this fact on his own chart by drawing Ben's symbol — "o" — in that square. Ben himself makes no mark.

Thus the game continues each player depending upon his memory to guide him. The referee announces when a player has three symbols in a row and thus becomes the winner. He also announces when a player through faulty memory has pointed to a square that has already been filled. In such a case that player loses the game. It is easy to see that a good memory is required!

TELEVISION HAS A HYPNOTIC EFFECT! TRUE □ FALSE □

True, sometimes. According to a booklet, "The Shy Child," sent to the hypnotist Edwin Baron 25 cents for each copy, along with your name and address, to feel with the hero on the television screen and being under hypnosis. In true hypnosis the person experiences the basic instincts and emotional reactions of the rule that he is commanded to play. In watching the television Western, for example, a man experiences a similar effect as he emotionally acts out the part he is watching.

Can you tell if you are mentally healthy?

Yes — No —

Yes, you probably can. When you feel that you are adjusting constructively to the life situation in which you find yourself, you can give yourself credit for being psychologically well. If you have few episodes of being unhappy, discouraged, anxious, fearful, and retreating either from or fighting others, you may assume you are in good shape emotionally. Just being reasonably happy is a broad index of mental health.

There are many other guides to mental health listed in the booklet, "When Mental Illness Strikes Your Family." To get your copy, send 25c and your name and address to Let's Explore Your Mind, in care of this newspaper. Owing to the heavy volume of mail, please allow three weeks for delivery.

Lesson in English

Words often misused: Do not say, "Politics are not interesting to me." "Politics" (the science and art of government) takes a singular verb.

Often mispronounced: Gaucherie (awkwardness). Pronounced go-sheh-ree, with principal accent on last syllable.

Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: Amnesty, forgiveness, an overlooking, a general pardon for a past of fense. The repentant man's subsequent behavior soon gained him amnesty.

Stock Market Led by Steels

Trading Heavy as Irregular Advance Marks Day's Sales

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels were in demand as the stock market maintained an irregular advance early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

The market was stronger early in the morning than it was later. Many recent high flyers were clipped by profit taking.

Brokers reported a pent-up demand by investment funds of various types to establish positions in common stocks.

A parade of sizable blocks, mostly at higher prices marked the opening. Once the initial wave of demand had been satisfied, however, the list backed away sharply.

Steels remained higher following a report of surprising strength in steel orders during the usually sluggish holiday weeks.

Nonferrous metals, rails and utilities also were on the upbeat. Motors turned mixed. Tobaccos, airlines, chemicals and aerospace issues also were irregular.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .7 at 287.9 with industrials up .4, rails up .7 and utilities up .6.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .96 at 768.64.

Both averages were above record closing highs they established Friday.

G. D. Searle, which soared following its admission to Big Board trading last week, fell more than 2.

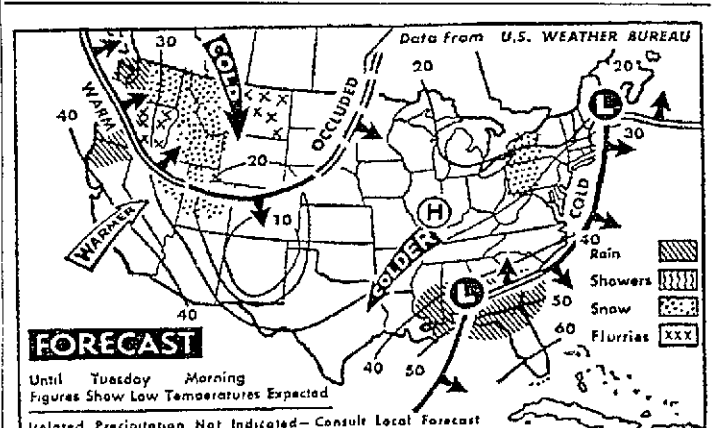

American Tobacco held a fractional gain following word of its new cigarette brand which will be labeled for its contents of "tar" and nicotine. Other cigarette stocks showed a lower trend. The U.S. Public Health report on smoking and health is expected to be issued Saturday.

Prices moved higher in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Goldwater Begins Nomination Efforts

First Speech Tonight Before
GOP Fund-Raising Rally and Dinner at Grand Rapids, Mich.

BY WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater launches his campaign for the White House tonight—after vowing that if he gets there and finds it “to our advantage” he will renounce the limited nuclear test ban treaty.

The Arizona senator, his rights trained on the Republican presidential nomination, makes his first speech as a candidate tonight before a GOP fund-raising dinner in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Tuesday he turns to the top target in his quest for the nomination. New Hampshire Goldwater plans to spend three days there, campaigning Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday for votes in the March 10 presidential primary, the nation's first of 1964.

Goldwater got in a dig Sunday night at his only announced rival for the nomination, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Gov. Rockefeller is used to giving money away and I'm not, that's the difference,” Goldwater said in calling for revision of the U.N. charter to force its members to pay their dues or lose their votes.

Against Treaty
Goldwater also took a crack at President Johnson, calling his government economy drive show with little substance.

“He is putting up a good front,” the senator said. “The lights are blinking and the

The spokesman added that Lodge has said repeatedly he is not a candidate and has no intention of entering any primary race.

He added that the headquarters for Lodge was established to stir up interest in a possible draft Lodge movement and that his name would not be entered in any race without his consent.

Peterson also announced that he had assurances that Neither New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller or Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater would enter the April 7 race.

“Both Congressman Laird (Melvin Laird, R-Marshfield) and Warren Knowles (New Richmond, Republican candidate for governor in 1964) have received assurances from the Rockefeller group that the governor would not enter the Wisconsin primary.”

Peterson added that he received word from Goldwater last Thursday that the conservative senator would not enter the state's presidential preference race in the spring.

Peterson said Byrnes' announcement that he would run as a “favorite son” candidate was not an “iffy statement.”

“It's positive when you look at the mechanics of it,” he said. “We have received assurances for much formal support in the past and I'm sure we will receive full support within the short future.”

Peterson also revealed that Byrnes has agreed to make “several appearances outside his district” during the primary campaign, including a speech in Superior.

When Peterson made the announcement of Byrnes' candidacy at 10 a.m., the room, filled with local and a few state GOP dignitaries, remained almost quiet. There was little applause.

Rockefeller knows his reputation as a liberal could be troublesome in New Hampshire. His first major political speech in this campaign contained a detailed analysis of his “fundamental differences” with Democrats on such issues as balanced budgets and centralized government.

Rockefeller indicated at a news conference he would concentrate his immediate fire on Goldwater, avoiding specific criticism of the Johnson administration. He said Johnson had not produced concrete results on which to make a judgment.

New State Justices For Supreme Court

George R. Currie Is Chief Of Wisconsin's High Court

MADISON (AP) — A new chief justice and justice were installed in ceremonies in Wisconsin's Supreme Court chamber today.

George R. Currie, 63, was elevated to chief justice, the 17th man to hold the high position in the state's history. Bruce Beilfuss of Neillsville was given the oath as the court's newest member. The 48-year-old Circuit judge was elected in April to a 10-year term on the Supreme Court.

The oath elevating Currie was administered by Justice Thomas E. Fairchild. The oath for Beilfuss was given by Justice Horace Wilkie.

The State Bar handled arrangements for the ceremony and as part of it, newly-sworn Justice Beilfuss gave the oath to Lowell Schoengarth as judge of the 17th Circuit where Beilfuss presided. Schoengarth also was elected in April.

Currie's annual salary goes from $17,500 to $25,000. Beilfuss will receive $24,000.

After the Mass, the Pope made his address in the presence of the 12 persons with him in the grotto. His words were carried by loudspeaker to worshippers in the Church of St. Catherine above and to the crowd outside.

“This is the historic hour in which the Church must live her profound and visible unity,” the Pope said.

Pleads for Understanding
“It is the hour in which we must correspond with the wish of Jesus Christ ‘that they may be perfectly one, so that the world may know, Father, that it is Thou Who has sent me.’”

The pontiff reiterated what the late Pope John XXIII had made clear when he called the Vatican Ecumenical Council for Christian unity — that the Roman Catholic Church would not abandon what it considers basic truths.

“Yet we declare once again,” said Pope Paul, “that we are ready to consider every reasonable possibility by which mutual understanding, respect and charity may be fostered so as to smoothen the way to a future —and, please God, not too distant—meeting with our Christian brothers still separated from us.”

In words that he apparently added at the last minute, the Pope addressed the leaders of the world. He said: “At this time when I leave

Fingerprints Only Clue In Boston's Strangling

BOSTON (AP) — Fingerprints in the apartment of Mary Ellen Sullivan, 13, apparently offer the only solid clue to the 11th unsolved sex strangling in this area since June 1962.

House Check
Detectives made a house-to-house check of the Beacon Hill area Sunday, seeking information which might lead them to the killer who throttled Miss Sullivan with a nylon stocking and two nylon scarves.

Miss Sullivan, a clerk in a Boston finance company, moved into the apartment Jan. 1. Two other women shared the apartment with her. She had been living in Whitman, Mass.

The manner of Miss Sullivan's slaying bore many similarities to the 10 other unsolved stranglings. Only one woman had been strangled manually. The others were killed with articles of clothing, usually stockings.

All 11 deaths occurred within some 20 miles of Boston.

their support. I am confident we will receive such support.”

Byrnes set a deadline for receiving word from the prospective candidates.

“It would be helpful,” he said, in our planning, if we could hear from them prior to Feb. 1.”

Byrnes concluded: “I need not point out that my decision to accept the party's invitation is based solely upon the party interest as urged upon me by its leaders throughout the state.”

“I will expect, therefore, and I know I will receive, the fullest cooperation from the party and its leaders in the organization, financing and conduct of whatever primary campaign may be necessary this spring.”

Party Delighted
Peterson said the Republican Party is “delighted” about hearing Byrnes' plans. He said Byrnes “is performing a real service to his party by accepting his role of leadership.”

“The Republican Party of Wisconsin feels that we can convert the problems raised by the nature of our presidential primary into a unifying rather than a divisive force.”

“The fact that supporters of several presidential candidates are present today underlines the importance of John Byrnes' decision.”

Peterson pointed to a statement made by Byrnes that “the violent reaction of Wisconsin Democrats against this procedure fortifies our view” on the favorite son plan.

MGIC Controversy
Byrnes became involved in a controversy involving purchase of stock in the fabulously successful Mortgage Guaranty Insurance Corp. of Milwaukee several months ago, when it was disclosed that he was one of a large number of prominent persons who purchased stock at a preferential price several years ago.

In an impassioned floor speech, Byrnes denied knowing he had been granted a special price by MGIC, for which he had intervened with the Internal Revenue Service on a tax question, and announced he would Bethlehem, this place of purity and calm where was born 20 centuries ago He to whom we pray today as the Prince of Peace, we feel the great duty to renew to all chiefs of state and to all those who carry the responsibility of the people our pressing appeal for world peace.

“The governments must hear this cry from our heart and let them generously follow their efforts to assure humanity the peace to which it earnestly aspires.”

Urges World Peace
“Let them get from the Almighty and from their inmost human conscience a most clear intelligence, a most ardent wish and a new spirit of concord and generosity so as to eliminate whatever cost the anguish and suffering to the world of a new world war whose consequences would be uncalculable. Let them collaborate more efficiently to gain peace and truth in justice, in freedom and in friendly love. This is the prayer that we have not ceased to make constantly in this pilgrimage.”

Even before the Pope made his appeal for Christian unity, his pilgrimage had given a new impetus to the cause by his meetings with Patriarch Athenagoras I of Constantinople (Istanbul) and other patriarchs of the Orthodox churches.

Green Bay Native
A native of Green Bay, Byrnes is a 1938 graduate of the University of Wisconsin Law School. Before his election to Congress, he served one term as state senator from the old Brown-Oconto County District and was elected Republican leader during the single term.

He was married to Barbara Preston, whom he met at the university, in 1947. They are the parents of six children.

Last October, five commanders of house Republicans lauded Byrnes at a testimonial dinner attended by 1,650 in Green Bay, a program which also brought a wire from former President Eisenhower. House leaders were Rep. Charles Halleck, Indiana minority leader, Rep. Leslie Arends, Illinois minority whip, Rep. Gerald Ford, Michigan, chairman of the house GOP conference, Rep. Robert Wilson, California, chairman of the GOP house campaign committee, and Rep. William Miller, national Republican chairman.

Lincoln's Running Leads San Diego To AFL Crown

Keith Sets Record in Chargers' 51-10 Rout of Boston's Patriots

BY JERRY LISK
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Keith Lincoln, a thunderbolt fullback, stunned Boston Sunday with two spectacular first quarter runs and then blitzed to a record individual performance in leading San Diego's Chargers to a 51-10 rout of the Patriots and the American Football League championship.

It was the highest scoring title game in the AFL's four-year history.

Lincoln, who runs like a halfback and catches passes like an end, set up San Diego's first touchdown with a 56-yard run, streaked 67 yards for his own first touchdown and scored a second touchdown on a 25-yard pass from Tobin Rote.

San Diego's first league title in three tries actually was settled with a 21-point first quarter against the best defense in the four-season old AFL.

But Lincoln, three-season veteran from Washington State, didn't let up after his first period fireworks thrilled a crowd of 30,27 in sun-swathed Balboa Stadium.

353 Yards

He kept pounding away for a title game record of 353 yards — by rushing, receiving and passing — to get the unanimous vote as the game's outstanding player.

The only time the Patriots, beaten by San Diego in regular season play 17-14 and 7-6, were in the game was when Larry Garron smashed seven yards for a touchdown which trimmed the Charger lead to 14-7 with the opening period eight minutes old.

But when San Diego halfback Paul Lowe uncorked another 58-yard scoring run two minutes later against the Boston blitz, that made it 21-7 for the Chargers and the game was locked up.

Boston, AFL defensive leader despite the meager 8-6-1 record it carried into the game, made the mistake of red-dogging too hard on San Diego's opening plays.

That set up Lincoln's sweep around end for 56 yards on his first carry and enabled Rote's two-yard sneak for a touchdown with the game 28 seconds old.

The red-dogging Patriots also saw Lincoln take a Rote pitch-out on his second carry of the game and explode 67 yards down the sidelines for a 14-0 San Diego lead.

Almost the same thing happened on Lowe's 58-yard scoring spring.

Thus, on their first 10 plays of the game, the Chargers had three touchdowns.

The only other Boston score after Garron's touchdown smash was Gino Cappelletti's 15-yard field goal in the second period, which left San Diego ahead 24-10.

High School exploded with its highest point output of the season here Sunday afternoon and walloped St. Mary Springs, 91-33.

The victory was the sixth straight in the Fox Valley Catholic Conference this season for the Hawks, their ninth straight overall this campaign and their 36th consecutive triumph over three seasons.

Springs now has a 0-5 mark in conference play.

The first four minutes of the game saw the lead see-saw back and forth. A jump shot by "Rocky" Bleier gave the Hawks a 7-6 advantage with 4:17 left in the first period. This sparked a scoring spree that saw Xavier roll in 15 straight points to hike the lead to 21-6.

Early in the second period,

Coach Gene Clark started using his reserves, but the Hawks' hot outside shooting kept the score mounting. Xavier starters saw some action in the third period, but from the 2-minute mark of the third stanza and all through the final quarter only substitutes played.

Xavier hit 43.4 per cent on field goals for the game, bagging 36 of 83 shots. In addition, Xavier dropped in 19 of 29 free throws.

Springs had trouble from the floor getting only 13 of 59 field goal attempts for a meager 22 per cent. The Ledgers had only

Chuters Battle Undefeated Kimberly '5'

Neighborhood Rivals Meet Tonight on Papermaker Court

KIMBERLY — New wood has been added to the fire of rivalry that burns between Kimberly High School and St. John of Little Chute.

Basketball teams of the two schools will meet at 8:30 p.m. today in the new Kimberly gym. The junior varsity contest is slated to start at 7 p.m.

Kimberly, unbeaten in seven straight games this season and sporting one of the tallest line-ups in the state, goes into the game a solid favorite to defeat the Dutchmen.

But the Chuters are primed for an upset and furnishing the spark is the taste of two victories in their last three Fox Valley Catholic Conference games. St. John has tripped up St. Mary Menasha and Lourdes of Oshkosh while dropping a close decision to Green Bay Premontre in the last two minutes.

Kimberly has a string of 12 victories going over the Dutchmen. The last St. John team to score a victory over the Papermakers was in 1950. Since that time Kimberly has dominated the hardwood, although several of the games have been close.

This will be the first meeting between Bill Fitzpatrick and Gene Mason — coached teams. Fitzpatrick, the St. John mentor in his 13th season at Little Chute, while this is Mason's initial campaign at Kimberly.

Bart 'Most Valuable' in Playoff Bowl

BY BILL BRAUCHER

Miami Herald

MIAMI — Coach Vince Lombardi and especially the Cleveland Browns were unanimous today in the sentiment that Bart Starr is the most underrated quarterback in professional football.

"Somehow the impression has been created that we're a running team," said Lombardi after Sunday's 40-23 manhandling of the Browns before 54,921 witnessing the fourth annual playoff game in the Orange Bowl.

"Well, you saw what happened, and it's not unusual. In our last four games Starr has been completing 75 per cent of his passes and has thrown the ball up to 30 times a game. Do you call that a running offense?"

Star did a thorough job of dissecting the Cleveland secondary as the Packers rolled up the most points of any team to appear in this January fixture.

Pre-Game Billing

The 8-year pro from Alabama made a pre-game billing of a fullback battle between Jim Taylor and Jimmy Brown look ridiculous. Brown carried 11 times for 56 yards. Taylor scored one of the five Packer touchdowns, but totaled just 44 yards for 13 efforts.

Starr passed 18 completed 15. Three were touchdown tosses — to Ron Kramer for 19 yards and Tom Moore for 99 in the first quarter, and to Max McGee for 15 yards in the second period. Bart set up a third-quarter score with a 13-yard pass to the Browns' six-yard line. Moore caught this one and three others for 142 yards.

Starr beat Moore in the voting for most valuable player, and the award was richly deserved.

These two figured in the game's great play, 99-yarder which matched the longest scoring pass in NFL history. On Oct. 15, 1939, Frank Filchok and Andy Farkas collaborated on a 99-yarder for Washington at Pittsburgh's expense. Last Sept. 15, the Redskins' George Izo and Bobby Mitchell teamed to equal the feat against these same Browns.

Lombardi and Coach Blanton Collier of the Browns agreed that this play, preceded by a magnificent goal-line stand, broke the back of the Browns.

Green Bay led, 7-0, but the Browns had marched back to a first down on the Packer two-yard line. Then Willie Davis, Dave Hanner, Urban Henry, Bill Forester, Dan Currie and the rest of the rugged defensive cast dug in.

Halfback Ernie Green got a yard. Brown leaped high at the pile, but was driven back a half-yard short. Then it was Green for no gain and Brown again for

Starr Directs Packers to 40-23 Win Over Browns

Gros Takes Rushing Honors

'We Started 14 Points Behind,' Says Collier; Vince Raps Defensive Play

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers made a sensation of their first appearance in the National Football League Playoff Bowl — parading a tremendous offense and a defense that was nearly as impressive.

The Packers, who had played in the NFL title game the three previous seasons and won the championship the last two, rolled over the Cleveland Browns 40-23 Sunday in their initial showing in the game for the second place teams in the Eastern and Western divisions.

"We made some mistakes," said Cleveland Coach Blanton Collier who said his Browns "broke down a few times."

"We made mistakes," echoed Cleveland's defensive back Bernie Parrish. But Packer Coach Vince Lombardi wasn't ready to jump on the bandwagon. "This was an American Football League game — no defense," he said.

The Packer defense may have loosened up somewhat after the issue had been decided and when the regulars were taking a breather, but it surely had a hand in getting Green Bay off to a fast start.

"We started 14 points behind," said Collier, indicating incorrectly that the Packers might have done a little scoring before the kickoff. "After that it didn't make much difference." That time he was correct.

For 7 Minutes

The first time the Packers got the ball, by receiving the kickoff, they kept it for about seven minutes and rolled to their first touchdown. Then it was Cleveland's turn to roll — but only so far.

The Browns got inside the Packer one, but on the first Cleveland charge, veteran defensive tackle Dave Hanner met it head-on and Hanner won. Then Hanner grabbed Cleveland's Ernie Green before he could get anywhere. Three Packers were waiting when Brown tried to go around end.

That gave the Packers the ball, and on the first play, quarterback Bart Starr tossed out in the flat to halfback Tom Moore who grabbed the ball somewhere near the 15 and raced away to the second Green Bay TD. The play covered 99 yards and finished the Browns.

Who called the play? "Starr calls everything," said Lombardi.

"On that play our safety men missed their assignments," said Collier, who also explained that "we broke down at tackle" at other times during the game. If it was after the Starr to Moore bomb, it didn't make any difference.

'Most Valuable'

Starr, who set a game record by throwing for three touchdowns in the first half, was named the game's most valuable player.

Lombardi indicated approval of the choice. "Starr's last four games were like that," his coach said. "I think we must have completed 75 per cent of our passes in our last four games."

Starr completed 15 of 18 passes for 259 yards as the Packers added 231 yards on the ground to roll up a total of 490 yards and 27 first downs. Cleveland quarterback Frank Ryan connected on 18 of 28 passes for 310 yards to break the bowl game record for completions and distance.

Cleveland's Brown and Packer fullback Jim Taylor had their moments, but didn't really decide anything. Brown gained 35 yards on 11 carries while Taylor was getting 44 on 13. Green Bay reserve Earl Gros took the rushing honors, gaining 80 yards on 11 carries.

GREEN BAY — Continuing to flash a penchant for the dramatic with a perfect Hollywood finish, the Bobcats frustrated Waterloo's Black Hawks here Sunday afternoon with a vehemently protested last second goal by Dick Dougherty, 7-6.

The decisive score — and the officials ruled it was after a lengthy consultation — sprang from a frantic scramble which saw Pete Buchmann pilfer the puck from Waterloo's Bud McRae in the corner and whip it to bury Hank Therrien, stationed immediately to the right of the Black Hawk cage.

Therrien, in turn, fired a pass across the goal mouth to Dougherty who, connecting with the puck off the ice, deflected it past goalie Jim Coyle into the Waterloo net a split second before the final horn sounded, thus maintaining the Bobcats' grip on the United States Hockey League lead.

This startling denouncement triggered a bitter protest from

UCLA Romps to 13th Straight Basketball Win

BY DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Old Man Upset whistled Dixie Saturday night and led the Southland's top basketball powers, Kentucky and Vanderbilt, into the sea for the first time this season.

The spectre, playing havoc with national rankings for the second successive week, drew assists from Kentucky-killer Georgia Tech, 76-67 victor over the top-rated Wildcats, and Tennessee, surprise 57-55 winner over sixth-ranked Vandy.

Starr Directs Packers to 40-23 Victory

no gain, and the Packers took over just inside the one.

On first down, Taylor rammed the middle and was swarmed by Browns. But there was a catch. Taylor didn't have the football. Instead, Starr had faded back, spotted Moore outlegging the drawn-in defense, and led him with a lob.

Moore seized at the 15 and continued full tilt down the sidelines with the blushing Cleveland secondary in vain pursuit.

Now it was 10-0 and the Packers kept getting tougher as the Browns slowed up. Green Bay's margin was 26-10 at the half, 35-10 after three quarters.

The Packers had the ball 10 times, scored on six occasions. There were two interceptions, but Starr had long since sat down. Zeke Bratkowski and John Roach were the quarterback victims.

The Packers scored first after slugging 90 yards (72 and 18 more because of a penalty) in six minutes, 14 seconds.

The penalty was called in the end zone when Kramer, deciding valor was the better part of discretion simply knocked down and ran over defensive halfback Larry Benz. Instead of a touchdown, the Packers were back at the 19.

Starr merely repeated the procedure, and this time Kramer was a good boy as well as a good receiver. Jerry Kramer kicked the first of his five extra points.

After the Browns were stunned with the 99-yarder, they managed to reach the Packer 28. Quarterback Frank Ryan was the key figure in all the Cleveland scoring drives.

The Packer defense stalled Cleveland at the 29, so Lou Groza belted a 35-yard field goal.

Starr countered by engineering an 83-yard scoring drive. He made sure of the last 15 by hitting McGee in the end zone. A 30-yard spring by Elijah Pitts was the feature of this assault.

The Browns narrowed it to 21-10 when halfback Ernie Green jammed five yards to cap an 80-yard march and Groza kicked the conversion.

But the situation lasted about three minutes. The Packers barreled 83 yards in eight plays, with Taylor going over from a yard out.

The rest was window trimming. In the third quarter, a Ryan pass was deflected by Jesse Whitten into the arms of Willie Wood, who scampered from the Packer 35 to the Browns' 19. Six plays later, on fourth down, Moore struggled over from a yard and a half out.

Kramer got in the act with an 8-yard field goal that made it 38-10 in the fourth quarter with 12:40 left.

A 20-yard pass from Ryan to Rich Kreidling and a 25-yarder to Bob Crepino made the difference look more respectable. But the Packer defense saved by New York Saturday, 5-2, up a final indignity for the last, rallied on Norm Ullman's goal two minutes. With the Browns backed up to their 7-yard line, and Lionel Aldridge and Urban Henry closed in and hugged Ryan in the end zone for a safety.

The Packers got out of it with their pride intact and $600 apiece to the losers' $400.

Most unpaid operative besides Starr was Ryan, whose 18 for 29 and 310 yards set a record for this game.

The most overpaid was Norton. The 10-year man from Southern Methodist found it necessary to punt only once.

The Kentucky and Vanderbilt setbacks in Southeastern Conference openers left UCLA, Davidson and DePaul with the only perfect records among major college fives and vaulted the Bruins, No. 2 in last week's Associated Press poll, into the heir-apparent role.

Wins 13th Straight
UCLA walloped Washington State, 121-77, for victory No. 11 and its 13th straight in a carry-over from last season. The Bruins' unbeaten string is the longest in the nation after Vanderbilt's run of 15 was broken by Tennessee.

Seventh-ranked Davidson defeated West Virginia, 93-82, and unsung DePaul thumped Western Kentucky 99-82, in a bid for national acclaim.

Loyola of Chicago, replaced by Kentucky in the No. 1 spot last week, got back into the 100-plus point groove with a 127-85 romp over Morehead State. The Ramblers, No. 3 and 10-1, equalled their all-time scoring output as Vic Rouse, Jack Egan, Les Hunter and Ron Miller all hit for 20 points or more.

Fifth-ranked Michigan defeated Northwestern, 85-73, in a Big Ten opener, and Duke, No. 9, overpowered North Carolina State, 91-70, while two other members of the top ten, Cincinnati and Oregon State, were knocking each other off in a weekend set.

Bearcats Lose
The fourth-ranked Bearcats, now 8-3, edged the eighth-ranked Beavers, 57-53, Friday. OSU's seven-foot Mel Counts evened matters Saturday with a 38-point performance that helped riddle Cincinnati, 82-61. Oregon State's record is 11-2.

Villanova, No. 10 and 9-1, was idle Saturday.

Georgia Tech, a thorn in Baron Adolph Rupp's side for some time, made a wreck of Kentucky for the third straight time and sixth in the teams' last nine meetings. The Wildcats, weary after their two-game Sugar Bowl set earlier in the week, managed a two-point half-time lead but fell behind to stay early in the final period. Tech captain R. D. Craddock was the game's top scorer, with 25.

Tennessee's collapsing zone defense held Vanderbilt in check and R. W. Davis and Larry McIntosh hit free throws in the final seconds to sink the Commodores.

In other games involving major powers: St. Joseph's topped NYU, 82-76; St. John's surprised Syracuse, 84-71; Oklahoma City routed Creighton, 101-85; Ohio State defeated Wisconsin by the same count; St. Bonaventure nipped Duquesne, 97-95; Iowa stunned Indiana, 72-71; Seattle outscored Arizona State, 100-96. North Carolina beat Notre Dame 78-68; Wichita belted Drake, 67-49; Stanford clubbed USC, 62-46, and Illinois trimmed Michigan State, 87-66.

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin's sophomore - studded basketball team, its opening conference defeat only two days old, moves into the second round of the Big Ten race tonight against Michigan State.

Ohio State walloped the Badgers 101-85 on Saturday, but despite the outcome Wisconsin Coach John Erickson saw a ray of light in the performance.

"Actually I feel we didn't play too badly no matter what people think," Erickson said. "We tried a lot of different things and some of them backfired on us."

"We just finished an hour and a half workout and everybody appears eager to get rolling again," he commented from East Lansing where the teams will play.

The Spartans also dropped their opening conference game, Illinois, defending co-champion with Ohio State, defeated Michigan State 87 - 66 on Saturday at Champaign.

Defense Broke Down
Wisconsin's fast break, which crushed Georgia Tech in the Milwaukee Classic on Dec. 22, was as effective as ever, Erickson insisted, but he said the Badgers' defense broke down against the Buckeyes.

"We took a chance on defense, and overplayed a great deal, hoping to keep (Gary) Bradds as far from the basket as possible. Our defense got caught," said Erickson.

Bradds, Ohio State's All-America center, scored 32 points to pace the Buckeye attack. Erickson said he would start three sophomores, forwards Ken Gustafson and Dave Roberts and center Mark Zubor, along

Hanner Had Hunch After Brown Was Stopped Near Goal

Luck Helps in Goal Line Stands, Says 'Hawg'

Post-Crescent News Service

MIAMI — As all students of Packer football know, Dave Hanner has been 260 pounds of National League tackle for 12 years, all in Green Bay.

As dean of the club, he has watched it grow from patsy to champion under the relentless impetus of Coach Vince Lombardi.

This season the Packers were second best. But, in the modest tradition of the runnerup car agency, they tried harder.

That was the story of Sunday's 40-23 manhandling of the Cleveland Browns, according to both Hanner and Lombardi in the dressing room.

The Packer effort could be capsuled in a ferocious goal-line stand in the first quarter that broke the back of the Browns, behind only 7-0 at the time and threatening to tie.

Not Planned
"Goal-line stands are not planned, of course," said Hanner, grinning. "Especially when you're dealing with a guy like Jim Brown."

"You've got to use just plain crawl and gristle, and chew your way into the pile. And it helps to get a little lucky, too. You've got to be there with a gang of guys exactly when the ball carrier makes his move."

"For the defensive player, the goal-line stand is the greatest thing you can accomplish. When we stopped Brown on second down, just short, I had a hunch we could pull it off."

"When we got him again on fourth down, I knew this was our day. Even before (Bart) Starr hit (Tom) Moore with that 99-yard pass play."

Hanner, a ruddy-faced red-head from Earle, Ark., has a reputation around the League for shrewdness, particularly in detecting screen traps and draw plays. In the third quarter Cleveland quarterback Frank Ryan tried to send Brown over the goal line. Hanner, who was visting his in-laws here, was listed in fair condition. The 6-foot-3, 235-pound former Ohio State star said he was alone in his car in the driveway at his father-in-law's home when the accident occurred.

Hanner's spot on the draw. Nothing. The burly veteran smacked Brown to the turf for a yard loss.

Read Draw
"You can read the draw often from the clocking patter," said Hanner. "Usually the guard sets up to block you squared away between you and the quarter-back. But on the draw, most of the time, he'll be turned a little to the inside or outside, inviting you to take whichever route the play calls for. If he sets up to give me an outside route, I fight to the inside."

Hanner agreed with a dressing room consensus that the club was mentally fit.

"It's one thing to have a good time down here and all that. But you've got to work for the game, too. It takes a lot of conditioning, especially mental. Lombardi is great for keeping us hustling."

"What surprised me," Hanner volunteered, "was the way we won it. I didn't think it would be quite that easy. They seemed to let down a lot after that goal-line stand."

Hanner, 33, has no plans to retire.

"I'll be back," he said, "if they let me."

The remark was relayed to Lombardi.

"We'll let him," snapped the skipper.

Vikings' Marshall Has Surgery for Bullet Removal

The 6-foot-3, 235-pound former Ohio State star said he was alone in his car in the driveway at his father-in-law's home when the accident occurred.

AAU, USTFF Agree To Hold Meeting

Move Considered Major Step In Easing Strained Relations

BY BOB GREEN

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Amateur Athletic Union, long at odds over control and sanctioning of the nation's amateur athletics, have taken a major step toward easing their strained relations.

The AAU, through President Jav-Ehrent Mahoney and Executive Director Don Hull, agreed Sunday to meet with the U.S. Track and Field Federation to discuss their differences.

The USTFF is one of four federations sponsored by the NCAA in its efforts to gain a bigger voice in the selection and control of this country's teams to international meets, such as the Olympics.

Holds Franchise

The AAU holds the international franchise for the events. The long-standing, extremely complex squabble threatened for a time to wreck this country's teams for the 1964 Olympics. A temporary truce—actually a cease fire—was forged by Gen. Douglas MacArthur at the request of the late President John F. Kennedy.

Hull and Mahoney agreed to meet with the USTFF when they appeared before a joint session of the NCAA's Executive Committee and Council, prior to today's opening of the NCAA convention.

"Up to this point," NCAA President Robert F. Ray said, "there has been no meeting to implement the last paragraph of the MacArthur agreement. We feel that this willingness to meet is a step in the right direction."

The paragraph spells out areas of responsibility for each organization, allowing to the USTFF sanctioning of meets in-

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Perhaps the Los Angeles Lakers made a New Year's resolution never to lose to the Boston Celtics again.

At least that's the way the Lakers suddenly are acting.

The National Basketball Association's Western Division leaders lost all three games they played with the Celtics before 1964 started. Now in one weekend Los Angeles has won two clashes with the East's perennial pacesetters.

Dick Barnett's two free throws with five seconds remaining brought Los Angeles a 97-95 triumph Sunday night.

New York walloped Philadelphia 142-118. St. Louis belted Detroit 116-9 and Cincinnati outlasted Baltimore 111-106 in other games Sunday.

Barnett Ties Score

The Celtics appeared on their way to victory, leading 80-72 after three quarters. But the Lakers fought back until Barnett fired in a jump shot, tying the score 86-86. The lead then switched back and forth before Barnett's pair of points ended it.

Jerry West scored 29 points and Elgin Baylor 25 for Los Angeles. Sam Jones led Boston with 25.

Los Angeles took Boston 125-118 in overtime Saturday night while Cincinnati defeated New York 125-116 and Philadelphia whipped Baltimore 123-113.

Harvey Has Small Lead at Los Angeles

Palmer 3 Strokes Back, Just as in Last Year's Tourney

BY BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — History, at best a frivolous sort of thing, may repeat itself today as Paul Harvey nurses a fragile lead going into the final round of the $50,000 Los Angeles Open golf tournament.

People, mostly money hungry fellow professional golfers, were peering down his neck as play resumed over the par 35-71 Rancho Club Course Sunday.

Undoubtedly the most prominent peeper was Arnold Palmer.

The money-winning king was just three strokes back of 34-year-old Harvey.

By sheer coincidence, this was exactly Palmer's position one year ago when Art Wall Jr., was the leader. Palmer made up the difference en route to victory, and did it by three shots, with Wall somewhat shaken back five strokes in arrears.

Immediately behind the grey-haired golfing pride of Worcester, Mass., were Bobby Nichols and Jimmy Clark. Harvey had a 54-hole score of 209. Nichols and Clark 210.

Jay Hebert was alone at 211 and then came Palmer, along with Al Geiberger and Al Balding.

Included in the 214 group were Gene Littler, Dow Finsterwald and Lester Ellis, Jr., along with James Black, the one-day opening round surprise.

Harvey fired a brilliant 66 Sunday which included the big, best shot of the day, a seven-iron blast that traveled 155 yards and plopped in for an eagle two on the 14th hole.

Palmer's jinx rode again at the ninth hole, the one he took a 12 on in 1961, seven strokes over par. Sunday he hit over the fence onto a practice range and took a seven.

half-time Rote, who threw two touchdown passes and directed a withering blended Charter attack, connected on a 14-yard payoff shot to Don Norton.

That made it 31-10 and Boston might just as well have stayed in the dressing room after the intermission.

Lincoln averaged more than 15 yards in carrying 13 times for 206 rushing yards and had 123 yards on his seven pass catches.

Boston Coach Mike Holovak offered no excuses.

"They were better prepared — they were a great ball club today," Holovak said.

Seven Players

In all, seven players figured in San Diego's scoring.

Placekicker George Blair, who booted an 11-yard field goal to make it 24-7 in the third quarter, also converted after six of San Diego's seven touchdowns.

In the third quarter, Lance Alworth grabbed a 48-yard touchdown pass from Rote, wrestling the ball from Boston defender Bob Suci on the Boston 20 and galloping across all alone.

That made it 38-10. But still to come was sub quarterback John Hadl's one-yard touchdown sneak in the fourth quarter to cap an 80-yard San Diego strike, with Hadl's passing moving the Chargers down the field.

The Chargers missed a two-

North Upsets South, 20-13, In Hula Bowl

Pete Liske Directs Team to Victory in Tropical Downpour

HONOLULU (AP)—The Hula Bowl looked more like the Mud Bowl this year, but the nation's top collegiate stars put on a first-class show anyway.

The North All-Stars, behind Penn State quarterback Pete Liske, upset the South 20-13 Saturday night as 18,177 fans braved a tropical downpour at Honolulu Stadium.

"I've never seen a field as sloppy as this one," said Len Casanova, the veteran Oregon coach. "But these kids put on an amazing game in spite of it."

There was no tarpaulin and the gridiron was a sea of mud following several rainstorms in the past three days. It rained off and on during the game.

Liske directed the North's offense most of the way and was voted as the outstanding back of the game. He completed seven passes for 99 yards and also plunged over for his team's second touchdown which put the Northerners ahead to stay.

With Liske at the helm, the North marched 85 yards in the second quarter for a 6-0 halftime lead.

Liske hit Pitt's Paul Martha with a 14-yard pass play which carried to the eight and two plays later Michigan State's Roger Lopes, a Honolulu native, went over for the score.

The South took the opening kickoff of the second half and went 73 yards in 12 plays with Charley Taylor of Arizona State skirting end on a 26-yard touchdown run after taking a pitchout from Baylor's Don Trull.

University of Southern California's Pete Beathard kicked the extra point and the South led 7-6.

But Liske brought the North back, connecting with Burke, Martha and Ohio State's Paul Warfield on pass plays and drove over for the two for the score.

The Penn State quarterback then ran into the end zone on a rollout for a two-point conversion.

The North scored again on a 10-yard pass from Purdue's Ron DiGravio to Burke early in the fourth quarter before the South rallied again late in the game due to some brilliant passing by Trull.

Replacing Beathard at quarterback, Trull hit U.S.C.'s Hal Bedsale on passes of 22 and 21 yards, then flipped a nine-yard scoring pass to the Trojan's Willie Brown.

Temper flared on several occasions.

In the final minute, Scott Appleton of Texas and Harrison Rosdahl of Penn State were ejected for fighting.

Waterloo player-coach Leonard "Oakie" Brumm and his colleagues, who immediately stormed the official table—and timer William Andersen. Officials Don Wheeler of Minneapolis and Ron Vanelli of St. Paul also arrived in haste to check as 1,446 patrons held their collective breath, and, satisfied that all was as represented, allowed the goal.

Andersen, whose version was vigorously disputed by the Black Hawks, explained that he had flipped the switch on the clock, which is otherwise operated automatically, as the goal judge tripped the red light after Dougherty flicked the puck into the Waterloo cage. "When I turned the clock back on to put time in," he added, "the horn sounded."

The Hawks weren't buying, however, and Brumm announced that he would file a formal protest, based on the contention time had expired before Dougherty shot, with USHL Commissioner Harold L. Trumble at St. Louis Park, Minn., today.

As it stands at this point, however, the contested victory greatly enhances the Bobcats' position, hoisting them 1 1/2 games above the runnerup Black Hawks, who now own an 8-7 record compared to the local prides' 8-4.

Until Dougherty connected, a third straight overtime loomed as inevitable for the Bobcats, who less than 24 hours earlier had shaded the Hawks, 4-3. A week earlier, they had dropped a 6-5 decision to St. Paul's Steers in overtime.

Dougherty's decisive stab finished off the 3-goal hat trick for the former University of Minnesota All-American, who earlier had rifled home the Bobcats' second goal at 9:45 of the first period and their third at 8:14 of the second. Dandy Dick, who counted all three deflections, likewise assisted on the Bays' first goal, registered by veteran Ken Ruohonen at 3:29 of the opening period.

Chunky Gene Rebellato also chipped in with a pair of timely goals, his last staking the Bobcats to a short-lived 6-5 lead at 13:21 of the final period. It last only 12 seconds, however, fleet Sam Grastron finishing off his hat trick with a counter bullseye at 13:33.

A script writer's dream from start to finish, this freewheeling struggle was tied six times, beginning at 1-1 and continuing through 6-6, until that last second spectacular ended it all.

About 1,500 Stranded by Bus Walkout

Travelers Delayed Up to 22 Hours at Indianapolis Depot

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—About 1,500 travelers were stranded in the Indianapolis bus terminal up to 22 hours Sunday when 200 Greyhound drivers walked off the job.

By the time the drivers had agreed to return to work Sunday night, all but 100 of the passengers had been accommodated by rival lines. Most of the buses tied up had left by midnight.

Many of the stranded travelers were servicemen and women, college students and parents with dozing babies returning from long holiday vacations.

There was no forewarning of the walkout. About 100 baggage clerks, ticket agents and other terminal employees joined the drivers in the work stoppage shortly before midnight Saturday night. All are members of Local 1211, Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees. Both union and management officials blamed the walkout on disputed working conditions and rules interpretations.

50 Buses Tied

About 50 buses stood idle, some spilling from the terminal into two adjacent auto parking lots.

Marice T. Horton, president of the local said the walkout was not a strike but "just a union meeting." He said under a two-year contract running to Oct. 31 members are entitled to time off to attend union meetings.

The union chief said the dispute focused on alleged failure bidding on a seniority basis and attempted dismissal of two baggage handlers hired for the extra work of the holidays.

Ann Longwell, University of Wisconsin freshman from Knoxville, Tenn., was en route to the campus. "I started early," she said, "because I was worried about the snow. Now we get caught in this."

Body of Elderly Shawano Rest Home Resident Discovered

SHAWANO — The body of an elderly Shawano rest home resident was found on the Wolf River Sunday morning about 12 hours after he was reported missing from the home.

Jack Phiede, 90, a resident at the Mielke Rest Home, wandered away from the home at 5 p.m. Saturday. Because he had "walking privileges at the home, he was thought to be strolling about the area and was not reported missing until 7 p.m.

Shawano County authorities conducted an all-night search for Phiede. His body was found at the north end of Lafayette Street at 8:30 a.m. Sunday by two ice fishermen.

Author Writes of Three Great Women Saints

Three great women saints are the heroines of "Three Ways of Love," the newest book from the pen of the popular and indefatigable author, Frances Parkinson Keyes. It is one of the new books at the Appleton-A-Spoon - Riverish time and Public Library.

St. Agnes, child martyr of the fourth century, and St. Catherine of Rome and St. Catherine of Siena, who lived in the 14th century, are shown achieving sanctity by loving God — each in their own way. The main quality of the book is its restful timelessness, and the chief beauty of this book of Rome and St. Catherine of Siena is to be found in the many passages describing the author's untiringly achieved sanctity by loving God — each in their own way.

Mrs. Keyes, always a competent storyteller, uses a wealth of background from the best known historical sources to make "Three Ways of Love" accurate and authentic. There is only a short vignette on the life of the little-known St. Agnes, martyred at 12, whose name is still recalled in the Canon of the Mass. Fuller treatment is given to St. Catherine of Siena, special patron of the noble birth, wifehood and motherhood proved no barrier to her life of dedication to God.

Practical Mystic
The greatest of all female Italian saints, Catherine of Siena, is revealed in a more detailed study as a mystic of profound spirituality and great practical wisdom.

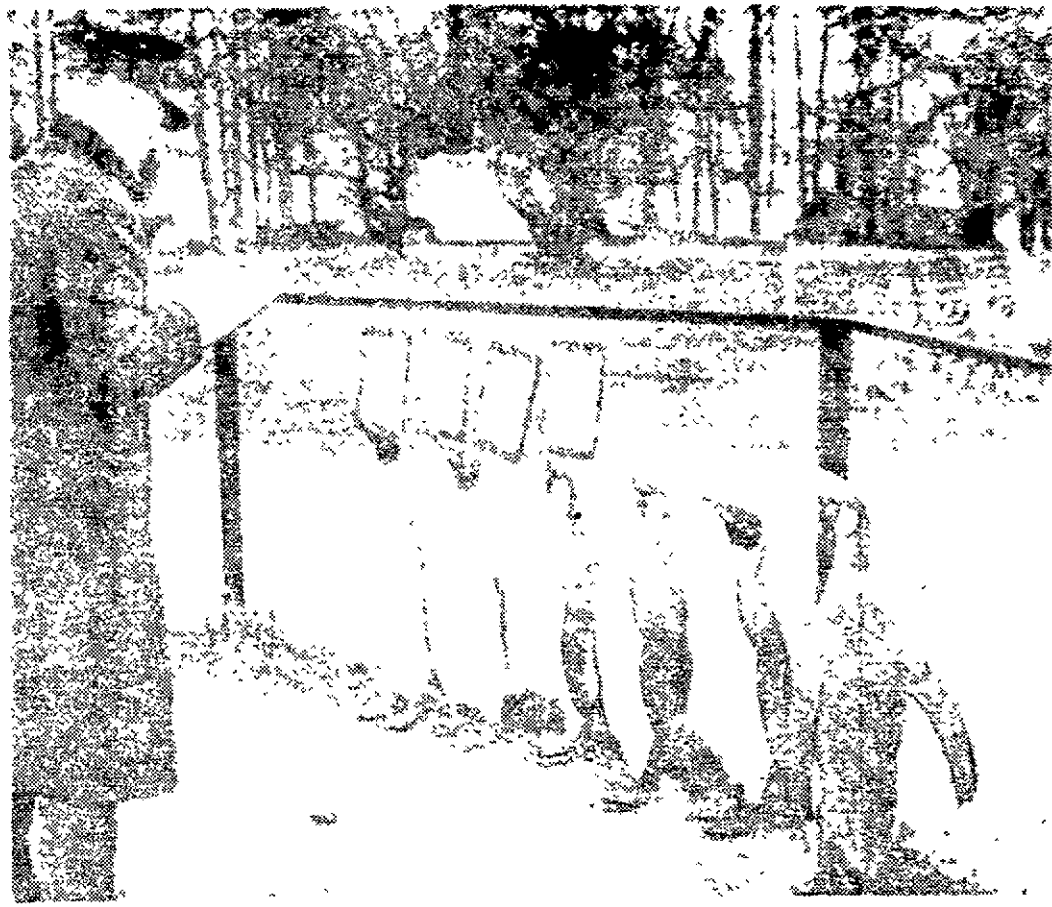

"Three Ways of Love" will lead readers to more definitive biographies of each of the three saints Mrs. Keyes deals with so expertly in this absorbing book.

Only one or two casual references to cars, the telephone, and "the war" hint that "Countdown," a diary by August Derleth, was kept in the mid-20th century.

Passing of Seasons
The author records the passing of the seasons with their accompanying flora and fauna and anecdotes about his rural neighbors in Prairie du Sac, Wis.

New novels include "Planet of the Apes" by Pierre Boulle, "A kindly busybody, although Derleth, born in 1909, was far from elderly when these notes were made.

The events and the attitudes of the characters, some of whom we become well acquainted with in the course of this two-year chronicle, could have been but even secluded in this Midwestern backwater, one wonders if Derleth himself — obviously an intelligent and sensitive man — Turner.

Keeper Reg Hazard fills in record during annual New Year's Day stocktaking at Whipsnade Zoo, Bedfordshire, England. As usual the penguins appear to be dressed formally for the muster. (AP Wirephoto)

Spawmed by Gold Rush

Even Khrushchev Loved The 'Golden Gate City'

BY HAROLD V. STREETER
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Ah, San Francisco — cable cars, bridges, Chinatown, Fisherman's Wharf.

Even Soviet Premier Khrushchev fell in love with the city. The Golden Gate, spawned back in 1849 by a capitalistic rush for gold.

Let's have a closer look. Now about those cable cars: at the turn of the century, 13 lines sent dozens of them clucking and clanging over the hills.

Today there are 27 cars in daily service. And they are one big financial headache.

All repairs and all spare parts have to be homemade. It would be cheaper to use buses. A hard core of defenders, known as the Citizens' Committee to Save the Cable Cars, stands firm at the turntables just during anybody's drums.

Bridges: More than 21 million couple of million who poured more than $115 million in tourist money into San Francisco at the toll gates of the 4,200-foot Golden Gate Bridge this year. But if you stopped in a Chinatown store to pack official assessment tax and collect an oriental tidbit as a souvenir, you'd over the 8¼-mile $7.2 million.

turn it over and look at the bottom. The Red Chinese "bamboo curtain" being what it is, chances are you will read "Made in Japan."

Wharf Same
Over at Fishermen's Wharf, only the wharf stays the same. The fish and the men change. Time was when the bay shrimp were so succulent and distinctive that maestro Arthur Fiedler swore he could tell by the taste the difference between North Bay and South Bay shrimp. He can't any more. The bay shrimp vanished.

There's one other thing. If you are talking about a railroad, okay; but if about the city, don't call it Frisco.

Residents Reminded Of Ordinance About Walk Snow Removal

KAUKAUNA — A reminder has been issued from the clerk's office regarding the city ordinance requiring removal of snow and ice from sidewalks one lump (more than one cyst) within 48 hours after a snowfall.

Police have been instructed to arrest offenders who fail to obey the ordinance. Violators are subject to fine and in addition city crews will remove the snow at the expense of the property owner through a special assessment tax and collect new lump is "just another cyst." Therefore report it to your

To Your Good Health

Removal of Cysts Is Task for a Surgeon

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D., physician so he can determine Dear Dr. Molner: What is its nature.

Using Bleach
Dear Dr. Molner: A friend is using a bleach to lighten her hair on her lip. She gets sores and pimples in her nose almost every time although it doesn't seem to hurt her lip.

I've been telling her the directions say not to use it on any part of the face. Is there anything harmless on the market to use as a lip bleach?

Hydrogen peroxide is as harmless a bleach as you could use. Evidently she is sensitive to something in the present bleach and ought to abandon it, if only because the pimples won't enhance her appearance. They could, of course, become the site of infection.

Douche Needed?
Dear Dr. Molner: Is it necessary to douche after menstruation? I am 27 and never have done so because frankly I don't know the first thing about it.

No, it isn't necessary, and many gynecologists feel needless douching can even be discomfort is relieved because the pressure is removed. But the cyst then seals over, and the whole process recurs. And that is why removal, rather than draining, is preferred.

Some people have trouble with cystic mastitis — cysts on one or both breasts. The breast tissue, of course, is full of small milk glands. Why a few of them tend to become cysts in some individuals and not in others is not easy to answer, but this happens.

When several become encysted it doesn't seem like a "few" to the patient. It seems like a lot. But it is few as compared to the many thousands of the glands which continue to work normally.

These cysts are not related to cancer. Indeed, when more than one lump (more than one cyst) appears, it is a good sign. Cancer ordinarily begins as a single, painless lump.

However, while the presence of cysts is in no way an indication that cancer is likely, neither is it a guarantee that cancer may not appear. The danger is in taking for granted that a new lump is "just another cyst."

Therefore report it to your harmful at times. Douching is, however, often of use as a means of medication.

Orange Juice

Dear Dr. Molner: I was surprised to read your article on keeping orange juice in the refrigerator for several days. I understood that it loses its vitamin content in no time, refrigerated or otherwise. After that it is sugared water.

I'm afraid you are misquoting me—refrigeration has scant effect on the vitamin content (since canned juices keep indefinitely). The vitamin loss is principally through contact with the air. Keeping it in the refrigerator for a day or two results in some loss, but the juice is still worth drinking.

My feeling is to squeeze (or mix) juice in such minimum quantities as are possible. If you have freshly mixed or squeezed juice each day, so much the better. But if you can't have such quantities, but must mix more at a time, don't think that a day or two destroys its value.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper for your copy of his booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Never Conscious

Kenosha Bandit Victim Dies Two Days After Thought Dead

KENOSHA (AP) — Thomas Heather's heart, which continued to beat and kept him alive two days after he had been pronounced officially dead of gunshot wounds, stopped Sunday and he died without regaining consciousness.

Heather, 23, of Kenosha, was listed as dead at St. Catherine's Hospital at noon Friday, after physicians had battled seven hours to save his life.

A nurse noticed a slight heart beat moments later as he was being prepared for a coroner's examination.

Pulse Found
His heart continued to beat and he had a faint pulse and blood pressure until 3 p.m. Sunday. His breathing had been aided by an automatic respirator since physicians resumed the effort to keep him alive, even though they described him as "neurologically dead."

The doctor said his brain had been irreparably damaged by two bullets. They said Friday afternoon there was no hope he would survive. He showed no response to external stimuli.

A police officer remained on guard night and day in the hope he might be able to give some hint of his assailant. He was found Friday morning, slumped on the floor of a filling station where he was employed. Authorities estimated he had been shot between 2:30 and 4:30 a.m., apparently by a holdup man. Police said $125 was missing from the station.

One of the bullets, misshapen and unidentifiable as to size, was found on the floor of the station. The second was recovered in an autopsy Sunday, but it too had been flattened. Coroner Edward Wavro ordered a ballistics examination of the slug in an attempt to get some lead in the slaying.

Pope Paul Appeals For World Peace And Christian Unity

Byrnes Favorite Son if Chief GOP Candidates Don't Run

Pontiff Back in Rome After His Meeting With Patriarch

ROME (AP) — Pope Paul VI returned tonight from his "unforgettable pilgrimage" to the Holy Land, where he took bold steps along the path toward Christian unity.

In a climactic speech from Bethlehem, where Christ was born, Pope Paul appealed to world leaders to keep the peace and called on Christians to unite.

Packing history into the last day of his three-day pilgrimage of peace to the Holy Land, the supreme pontiff of 550 million Roman Catholics returned to Jerusalem to join Patriarch

Athenagoras I, spiritual leader of world orthodoxy, in praying that their meetings will be a "prelude of things to come for the glory of God."

These were the final highlights of the Pope's unprecedented visit to the Holy Land, for then he drove to Amman, the Jordan capital, and flew back home.

As his historic three-day pilgrimage in the Holy Land neared its end, the 66-year-old pontiff issued greetings of good will to all men—Christian and non-believer. Departing from his prepared text, he called on the world's chiefs of state to press for peace.

"Will of Christ"

The Pope urged Roman Catholics to do all they can to revitalize their Church in the quest for unity and appealed to non-Catholic Christians to join in the cause.

"Today the will of Christ is pressing upon us and obliging us to do all that we can, with love and wisdom, to bring to all Christians the supreme blessing and honor of a united church," he said.

The Pope journeyed the winding road from Jerusalem to Bethlehem on the Feast of Epiphany, commemorating the visit of the three Wise Men to the manger and the first manifestation of Christ to the Gentiles. Pope Paul was the first Roman pontiff known to have visited the spot of the Nativity.

Thousands Attend

Thousands thronged the town of Christ's birth for the pontiff's historic visit and for Orthodox Christmas Eve services starting three hours after the Pope's visit. But Jordanian troops and police took extraordinary precautions to prevent the mob scene that threatened the Pope's safety in the old city of Jerusalem Saturday.

Coils of barbed wire, iron barriers and rows of armed troops ringed Manger Square outside the Church of the Nativity. Police and troops closed the winding road from Jerusalem long before the Pope's arrival, and only about 2,000 children and other spectators were allowed in the square. But surrounding rooftops and streets were jammed.

Mass in Grotto

Robed in red, Pope Paul stooped to enter the doorway of the old church—less than four feet high—and descended the 16 worn steps to the grotto of the Nativity to celebrate Mass.

The pontiff knelt at the chapel of the manger in the cave, 34 feet by 12 feet. Nearby, sunk in the marble floor, was the 14-point Silver Star of Bethlehem, which tradition says marks the spot where Christ was born.

The Pope's voice was loud and resonant as he uttered the

11 Persons Die On State Roads Over Weekend

1964 Toll Grows To 27 Compared With 11 Year Ago

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Eleven persons, including four in one crash, lost their lives in a tragic weekend on Wisconsin highways. Their deaths boosted the 1964 state fatality toll to 27, compared with 11 on this date last year.

Lloyd P. Conry, 64, of rural Fond du Lac, Mrs. William Ryan of Brookfield, about 50, and William Nicholas, 18, of Pawcatuck, Conn., were killed Sunday in a head-on crash on Highway 23 in the Fond du Lac County community of Rosendale. Two other persons were injured. Nicholas was a freshman at Ripon College.

Crash Fatal to 4

Mrs. Britta Felleman, 54, of Sokie, Ill., died Saturday night and became the fourth victim of a two-car collision on Highway 36 west of Williams Bay in Walworth County. Other victims of the crash were James Davidson, 38, of Wauwatosa, his 34-year-old son, Arthur.

Davidson, driver of a station wagon, was the son of one of the founders of the Harley-Davidson Motor Co.

John Jackson, 49, of Milwaukee, was killed Friday night when his car struck a railing beside I-94 about six miles west of Kenosha.

Previously reported victims included Mrs. Florence Meissner, 40, of rural Edgar; Robert Sero, 49, of Lac du Flambeau; and Jacob P. Madsen, 73, of Kenosha.

Supreme Court to Take Jurisdiction in Desegregation Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to rule on requests that it take prompt final action to reopen public schools of Prince Edward County, Va., on a desegregated basis by next September.

County education officials closed Prince Edward public schools in 1959 to avoid court-ordered desegregation.

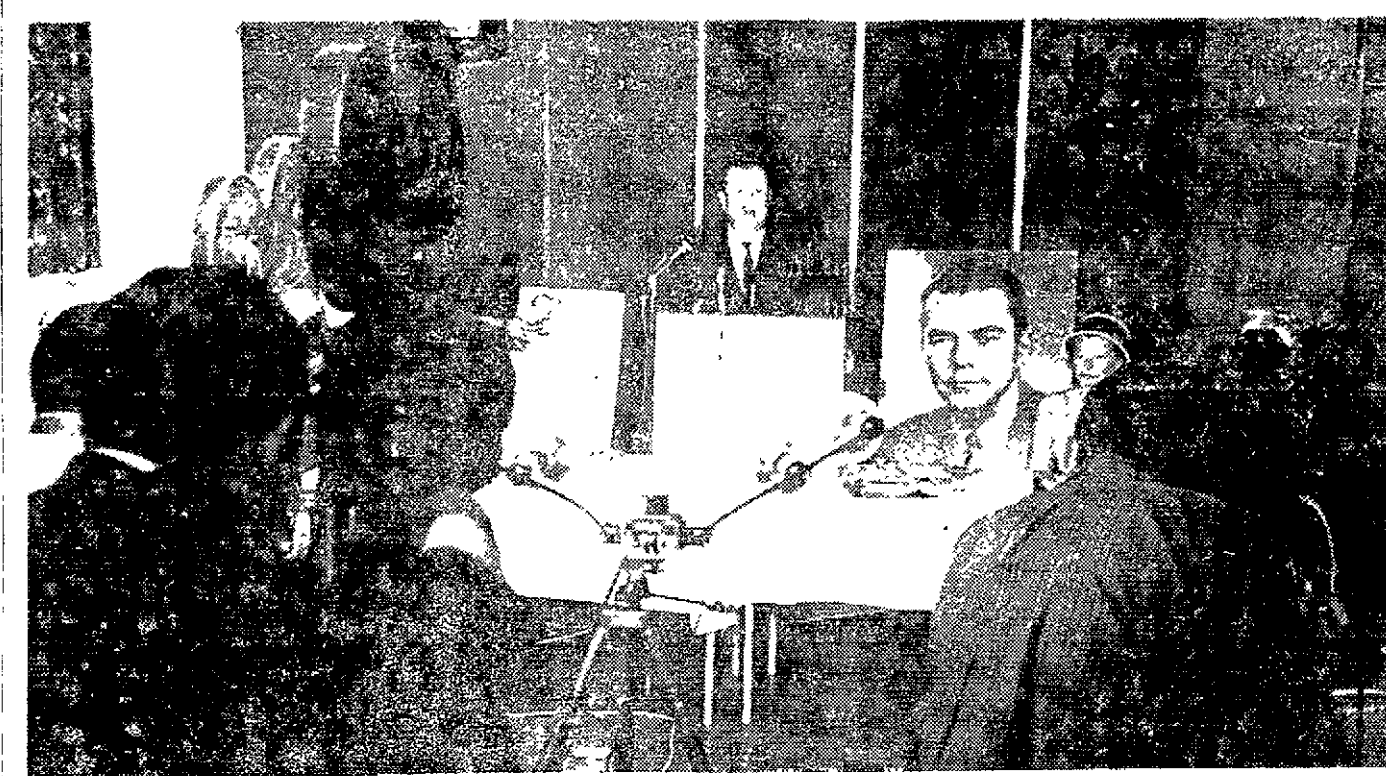

The Prince Edward racial controversy has been in courts since May 1951. It was one of the original school desegregation cases decided by the Supreme Court in 1954.

The Supreme Court, in an unsigned order, said that "in view of the long delay in the case" since the 1954 decision, and the importance of the questions presented, it will hear arguments March 30 on the case.

The Supreme Court's order noted it was taking this step without waiting for final action in the case by the U.S. Circuit Court.

Arsonist Eludes Pursuit After He Sets Hotel Afire

NEW YORK (AP) — An arsonist set a fire that swept the Astor Hotel's grand ballroom today, then he fled when chased by hotel employees, officials said.

About 400 guests left their rooms as heavy smoke poured through the 11-story hotel, a Times Square area landmark. Damage was estimated at $1 million.

There were no injuries. Fire Commissioner Edward Thompson said the fire was definitely set.

"We have two witnesses who actually saw the man start the fire, and we have a good description of him," Thompson said. "These witnesses chased the man but they lost him."

Police described the firebug as being between 30 and 35 years old, about 6 feet tall and wearing a trench coat and glasses.

The fire apparently began in draperies along the empty ballroom's lower balcony.

Thompson said the arsonist apparently used "a device to spread the flames." He did not elaborate.

The fire broke out about midnight.

Johnson to Step Up Drive for Program

Message Expected to Stress Measures Asked by Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson was back at his White House desk today, preparing for what may be a grueling January-to-December job: trying to get Congress to enact his legislative program.

Johnson will fire his opening salvo Wednesday when he outlines his objectives in a State of the Union message. He is expected to urge the passage of key elements of the Kennedy administration program carried over from the last session—civil rights, tax reduction and health care for the elderly—and add some requests of his own.

Meets Rusk, McNamara

Relaxed after a 12-day work-and-play vacation at his Texas ranch, the President scheduled a conference with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and McGeorge Bundy, presidential adviser on national security affairs.

In his first days in office, Johnson was pretty much immune from political criticism. But now that the moratorium which followed President John F. Kennedy's assassination is over, political criticism is once more in vogue.

Johnson has promised economy in government without hampering the nation's space and defense efforts. Legislators will want to know how he intends to manage this.

Difficult Decisions

In the last days at his ranch, the chief executive put in long hours on a budget that he has said will be in the neighborhood of $100 billion and on his State of the Union message. How these are received may indicate how much cooperation the one-time Senate Democratic leader is likely to get from his former congressional colleagues.

Cameras, Undeveloped Pictures of Kennedy Stolen From Auto

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Thieves broke into Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez' car Sunday and took $450 in cameras and undeveloped photographs of the late President John F. Kennedy, taken during his trip to Texas.

Recent film of President Lyndon B. Johnson also was taken. Gonzalez said thieves pried open a window vent to enter his car on a down town street.

But there were flickering hopes the West Berlin government could negotiate a new agreement with the Reds in talks scheduled to start this week.

The Western Allies, who are responsible for the security of West Berlin, have given their blessings to the talks. But they have warned Mayor Willy Brandt not to jeopardize the day for visits under a Christmas agreement negotiated between the West Berlin city government and the Communist East German regime. The Communists have tried to use previous talks to support their theory that there are three "free cities" of Berlin.

The crush was so big that tens of thousands returning to West Berlin were still waiting in the snow-covered Communist checkpoints when the visiting period expired at midnight.

Authorities said 1,318,000 permits were issued for crossings, but many West Berliners made several trips.

"The honeymoon is over," observed a Westerner.

Yachtsman Stabbed to Death in Home

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Police today probed the slaying of multimillionaire William W. Bartholomae, seeking to unravel the chain of events that left him stabbed to death in the blood-spattered kitchen of his luxurious bayfront home.

Booked on suspicion of murdering the 70-year-old yachtsman was his brother's wife, Carmen Gallardo Bartholomae, 25, a former Spanish dancer.

Hospitalized with a severely cut hand was Carmen's sister, Minola Gallardo, 32.

Bartholomae, whose cattle, oil and mining fortune was estimated at $11 million, was found Sunday morning with two stab wounds in his abdomen.

Knife Blade on Floor

On the floor beside him was his sister-in-law, who later told police she had fainted.

Between them lay the blood-smeared blade of an eight-inch butcher knife.

Police said Carmen gave this account: When Bartholomae, wearing a bathrobe and pajamas, entered the kitchen, Carmen was standing at the kitchen sink preparing breakfast.

"He didn't look good," she said. She said she remembers holding two knives and seeing Bartholomae "tumbling" before she fainted.

Agrees to Head Slate of Uncommitted Candidates In Wisconsin's Primary

BY DICK LYNEIS

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

John Byrnes is the Wisconsin Republican "favorite son" candidate for the presidency — providing no other GOP candidates enter the race.

Talbot Peterson, Appleton, state GOP chairman, made the announcement today that the Eighth District congressman has agreed to head a slate of "uncommitted and uncontested delegates" in the state's influential presidential primary next April 7.

Byrnes' statement was read by Peterson at a 10 a.m. press conference at the Conway Hotel. It said:

"In doing so, I am taking for granted that the party's invitation refers to a slate uncommitted to, and uncontested by, any of the major presidential candidates since I have made clear, from the outset, that this is the only kind I would consent to lead.

Accepts Conditionally

"It is obvious that if any major candidate decides to enter the Wisconsin primary, as they have every right to do, such a slate would not be filed."

At the press conference Peterson revealed that the state GOP organization has received assurances from three of eight possible candidates listed in Byrnes' statement that they would not enter the state primary.

Peterson said both Seventh District Rep. Melvin Laird and Warren Knowles, GOP candidate for governor, have received assurances from New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller that he would not enter the state primary.

Letter From Lodge

He added that he was assured last Thursday by Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona of the Senator's intentions not to enter the state primary.

Peterson also read a letter which he received this morning from U. S. Ambassador to Vietnam, Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., who assured Peterson he has no intentions of entering the primary.

Byrnes asked Peterson that he immediately inform the major GOP presidential prospects "of our party's objective and plan to enter an uncommitted slate in the primary, depending upon their decision as to whether they will enter Wisconsin."

In addition to Goldwater, Rockefeller and Lodge, Byrnes listed Sen. Thurston Morton, R-Ky.; former Vice President Richard M. Nixon; Michigan Gov. George Romney; Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine.

Peterson said this morning that on Jan. 10, "I will send a letter to each of the potential nominees named in Congressman Byrnes' letter, outlining the Republican plan for victory in November and asking for

Hint Lodge May be GOP Candidate

Letter to Peterson Indicates He May Run for President

What might have been the first public hint that U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge will be a Republican candidate for the presidency came this morning at a press conference in Appleton.

In a letter to GOP State Chairman Talbot Peterson of Appleton from the U. S. Embassy in Saigon, South Viet Nam, Lodge said:

"I do not feel I have enough knowledge either of the Wisconsin law or of the situation in Wisconsin to pass judgment on the scheme which you describe.

Admires Byrnes

"But I do want to express my admiration for your distinguished congressman John W. Byrnes who well deserves his very high standing."

(The "scheme" referred to by Lodge was Peterson's request that all national GOP candidates stay out of the state primary in deference to the Byrnes "favorite son" slate.)

Peterson read Lodge's letter, dated Dec. 31, at a special news gathering being held to announce the "favorite son" candidacy of Byrnes, the Eighth District GOP congressman from Green Bay.

Words of Candidate

Republican officials present at the gathering commented that Lodge's statement sounded like the words of a candidate.

Peterson commented, when asked if Lodge's letter sounded like a candidate's letter, "It sure does."

In Boston, a spokesman for an unofficial headquarters for Lodge said "I'm sure that if he were asked, the ambassador would say he has no intention

17-Day Agreement Expires

Berlin Wall Sealed After Happy Reunions and Mournful Partings

BY JOHN O. KOEHLER

BERLIN (AP) — The East German Communists sealed the Berlin wall again today, ending 17 days of joyous family reunions and heart-breaking partings.

A record number of more than a quarter million West Berliners poured into the Communist zone Sunday — the last day for visits under a Christmas agreement negotiated between the West Berlin city government and the Communist East German regime. The crossings started Dec. 19.

1,318,000 Permits

The crush was so big that tens of thousands returning to West Berlin were still waiting in the snow-covered Communist checkpoints when the visiting period expired at midnight.

Under the expired agreement, only West Berliners with close relatives were permitted to make the crossings. For many it was their first family reunion since construction of the wall observed a Westerner.

But there were flickering hopes the West Berlin government could negotiate a new agreement with the Reds in talks scheduled to start this week.

The Western Allies, who are responsible for the security of West Berlin, have given their blessings to the talks. But they have warned Mayor Willy Brandt not to jeopardize the day for visits under a Christmas agreement negotiated between the West Berlin city government and the Communist East German regime. The Communists have tried to use previous talks to support their theory that there are three "free cities" of Berlin.

The crush was so big that tens of thousands returning to West Berlin were still waiting in the snow-covered Communist checkpoints when the visiting period expired at midnight.

Under the expired agreement, only West Berliners with close relatives were permitted to make the crossings. For many it was their first family reunion since construction of the wall observed a Westerner.

"I wish I had not gone over there," sobbed a 43-year-old West Berlin optician after returning from a reunion with his wife. "The parting with my wife was horrible. We don't know when we will see each other again."

A worker who returned with his wife and baby after seeing his parents said:

"We cried and cried. The wounds were opened again. We had become used to being separated from my mother and father...of course, my (grandmother's) was happy, but the farewell...please don't ask me any more."

Trains Packed

"Enough tears flowed during these days to wash the wall away," said one West Berliner. Elevated trains coming from East Berlin's Friedrich-Strasse station were packed tightly for the first time in years. The people were quiet or talked only in low voices. The eyes of many women were red from crying.

Mrs. Kennedy, Children Return to Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the ant secretary of defense for special studies and requirements.

MRS. KENNEDY: Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her two children are back in the capital after 18 days at Palm Beach, Fla.

The former First Lady and Caroline, 6, and John Jr., 3, returned Sunday to the Georgetown home of Undersecretary of State and Mrs. W. Averell Harriman, where they have been living since leaving the White House.

On her way to the Harriman house from Andrews Air Force Base, Mrs. Kennedy made a brief visit to her husband's grave in Arlington Cemetery.

The Kennedys spent Christmas and New Year's at the oceanfront home of C. Michael Paul, where the family had spent several Christmases before Kennedy's assassination.

POSTAL JOB CUTS: Postmaster General John A. Gronouski plans to carry out a 5,000-employee reduction in postal service employment by leaving vacant jobs unfilled.

Gronouski announced reduction quotas for the department's 15 regions Saturday and said that no regular employee would lose his job.

Gronouski announced the manpower reduction earlier in compliance with President Johnson's directive to keep government employment at a minimum. The cuts are scheduled to go into effect by June 30 and will save $30 million annually.

Regional directors were told by Gronouski that no mail-handling jobs should be eliminated that would impair essential services.

ECONOMIC EFFECTS: Two Cabinet members have warned that congressional failure to pass the pending $11 billion tax cut bill would have serious effects on the nation's economy.

Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges said that if the tax cut is not approved "we would lose $10 billion or $15 billion in our gross national product increase."

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz added that "it would mean about two million jobs fewer than with the tax cut."

Appearing on ABC's radio and television program "Issues and Answers," Hodges and Wirtz indicated they expected the tax cut to be enacted and 1964 to be prosperous.

One customer said the man was "very polite, parked the cars well and seemed to really know what he was doing," police reported.

WAUSAU (AP) — Emily Martyn, who "could only smile" after she was stricken by polio 13 years ago, died Sunday. She was 33.

Miss Martyn, of Edgar, had been a patient at St. Mary's Hospital since she was stricken. Originally she was placed in an iron lung, but with the help of a physician and through her own determination, learned to breathe outside the device and needed it only several nights a week.

Hospital spokesmen said she never complained and was an

Hole in the Wall

The holiday truce in Germany which enabled West Berliners to visit relatives in the eastern sector has once more highlighted the delicate problem of the West's relations with East Germany.

Officially the West does not recognize the existence of the German Democratic Republic as the East German regime is called. It has refused to deal with East German officials on the grounds that they have no authority. But of course there have been some such dealings.

One field in which there have been more or less official negotiations is trade. West German trade sales to East Germany increased $10 million in 1963 over 1962 for a six month total of $150.1 million while East Germany sold $177.8 million to West Germany during the first six months of 1963.

A major opposition to the opening in the Wall to permit the Christmas visits was that arrangements had to be made with East German rather than Russian officials. The East German postmen came to West Berlin every day to hand out the permits to enter. Any possible continuation of the visiting privileges probably would serve to extend the dealings with East German officials.

Willy Brandt has argued in favor of the extensions. "I do not believe in the policy of all or nothing because then we will not have anything for a long time but speeches each Sunday."

There has come a growing criticism of what is considered to be two completely opposing policies in dealing with Germany. George Kennan has been undeviating in his criticism of our refusal to consider a neutralization of Germany while at the same time calling for a unified Germany tied to the West. Such an attitude, he claims, is unrealistic. New York Times columnist Arthur Krock has said much the same thing. The communiques released after President Johnson's meeting with Prime Minister Erhard in Texas once more stated that nothing should be done "that would serve to perpetuate the status quo of a divided Germany, one part of which is deprived of elementary rights and liberties." It also said that the President and Prime Minister "agreed that the central requirement in the policy of the West must be to increase the strength and effectiveness" of NATO. As Krock points out, one of these statements must be for local consumption only in Germany.

Will any extension of visiting rights serve to increase the power of the East German regime? It seems unlikely although it is quite true that a gradual recognition of authority of East German officials is a form of de facto recognition. Against this disadvantage must be weighed other considerations. The visits emphasize the appalling contrast between living conditions in the East and West even though the East Berliners are not doing the visiting. A continued opening in the Wall will ease tensions although it solves no basic disagreement. The longer the hole in the Wall remains, the harder it will be to seal it up again.

In the long run, the whole matter indicates a serious difference over our policies toward the captive nations. Most of us can agree that we seek freedom for them. But can it be achieved only through armed revolt? Is there a chance that the governments will evolve toward more democratic regimes or is this idea playing the Communist game?

There is no readily available answer to the queries. But it would appear that the more people are exposed to liberty, the more likely they are to seek it themselves in one way or another. And we are beginning to suspect more and more that putting our heads in the sand and pretending that Communist governments aren't there will not help them to go away.

Inflation in Brazil

President Joao Goulart of Brazil has been a popular figure in his country ever since he began his political climb. But his ability seems to be only that of compromising various opinions on a temporary basis. His own political philosophy, if he has one, is vague.

When a crisis erupted in Brazil several years ago, Goulart was in France completing a world tour to pay his glowing respects to various Communist leaders. When he returned to Brazil and was enthusiastically elected president, he promised to forget his far out left wing views in order not to arouse responsible Brazilians to revolt.

But today Brazil is in the whirlwind of an inflationary spiral that threatens what is basically a wealthy nation with financial collapse. And Goulart continues to play to the grandstand without solving anything.

All of this is concern to the United States not only because it creates a shaky situation in another Latin American nation. Brazil's debt of $1.6 billion to us comes due this year. Although President Johnson has written to Goulart offering to negotiate payments to make things easier, Goulart seems inclined to go along with his brother-in-law and federal deputy, Leonel Brizola, and declare a moratorium on the payments.

The United States handed over almost $400 million to Brazil some months ago to get it out of a particularly tight squeeze because its finance minister had some good ideas. But that finance minister resigned and so did his responsible successor. The new one appointed by Goulart appears to have little to encourage confidence.

Once again we learn the lesson that cash from Washington cannot cure the financial ills of a nation which makes no effort to help itself. But it is doubtful that Goulart understands the lesson.

Free College Education for All

A new vision of public education in the United States has been offered by a national commission of educators. They have declared that two years of general education should be provided free for all high school graduates.

And when they say free, they really mean it. In their report they suggest that what they call "non-selective colleges" should be established in every population center, should be open to all high school graduates and should be within the financial reach of all. Scholarships, job opportunities, loans, savings and tax credit plans should be offered, but in addition, the student who has no public college close by should be provided with transportation or with the means to live away from home.

The educators acknowledge that the cost of the plan would be tremendous. They said most of the cost of the plan would have to be borne by governmental units, which is a polite way of saying by the taxpayers.

The justification offered for the plan is somewhat more vague than the details of how it should be done. The argument for the proposal is based on the premise that man and society can be most free when there is opportunity for mental development and training. "The American ideal of universal education through the secondary school is inadequate," the commission says. "In the future, the important question needs to be not 'Who deserves to be admitted?' but 'Whom can the society, in conscience and self-interest, exclude?'"

The commission is talking about two years of general college education, not specialized training. It also concedes that the greatest percentage increase in college enrollments under such a plan would consist of the less prepared and less motivated high school graduates. Thus faculty members of the two year programs would have to be more concerned with arousing student interest in general fields and less in the creation of specialists.

Chief value of the proposal at this time is that it puts in sharper perspective the question of what direction higher public education in this country should take.

It is offered at a time when others are suggesting that our greatest need is for more specialized vocational training for not only high school dropouts but also for the graduate who really is not equipped to do college work.

We here in Wisconsin are becoming increasingly aware of this problem. The University of Wisconsin and its branches and extensions and the state college system are all growing at frightening rates, frightening to the taxpayer at least. Wisconsin in fact has taken a step in the direction suggested by the educators in the establishment of two-year university extension centers in population centers all over the state.

At the same time the cost of government in Wisconsin, of which education is by far the largest element, is exceeding the growth of the state's economy. As a result the individual taxpayer faces constantly increasing financial obligations to the state.

It can be argued that the state's heavy investment in education will return dividends in the future in spurring economic growth. But to the taxpayer who is settling up with the State Tax Department come April 15 his problem is a very immediate one.

Allen-Scott Report

Johnson Administration Also Split Over How to Treat Cuba

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

The Johnson administration is just as sharply split as its predecessor over cracking down on Fidel Castro's widespread subversive machinations in the Caribbean.

The Kennedy administration could never make up its mind about taking forceful measures against these pernicious Communist operations. Now its successor appears equally chary.

Whether that review of Cuban policy ordered by President Johnson leads to anything is a toss-up. So far, the backstage indications are not promising.

A key reason for this is the State Department's apparent domination of the study. Unannounced guide-lines have been laid down by Secretary Rusk which definitely favor the department's viewpoint in this protracted backstage controversy.

The State Department is very much opposed to any course favoring the use of force against the bearded Red-puppet dictator.

The department's position, strongly supported by hold-over Kennedy foreign affairs advisers in the White House, can be summed up as follows: In the Organization of American States, the U.S. to press for additional economic and diplomatic sanctions against the Castro dictatorship. At the same time, the U.S. to "hold out a carrot" in the form of an offer to restore the Cuban Communist ruler to OAS membership if he halts arms shipments and subversion in the Caribbean, and "cuts back" his ties with the Soviet.

This so-called "carrot and stick" policy is vigorously challenged as "unrealistic" and "futile" by a group that includes the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Central Intelligence Director John McCone.

It is their emphatic contention that Castro's persistent subversive activities can be blocked only by decisive military and diplomatic measures.

HOW TO STOP HIM — In the opinion of these military and Intelligence leaders, the U.S. should take the following three assertive steps to block Castro:

(1) Seek the authorization and cooperation of the Organization of American States for an expanded air and naval blockade of the Caribbean; (2) offer Caribbean and other Latin American countries the aid of U.S. planes and naval vessels to intercept Red arms shipments; (3) increase and intensify the surveillance of all outbound Cuban shipping.

Also advocated by the group is economic and military assistance to Cuban refugees waging war against Castro from Caribbean bases. They are urgently in need of weapons and other support to build up effect pockets of resistance in Cuba.

The Kennedy Administration steadfastly opposed such anti-Castro measures. The State Department wants that policy continued, and so far is having its way.

Thomas Mann, newly-named assistant secretary of state for Latin America, is authoritatively credited with holding the same view. He is understood to have advised President Johnson to make no decision on Cuba until after conferring with President Adolfo Lopez Mateos in late February in Los Angeles.

The Mexican leader is known to agree with Secretary Rusk on Cuba.

'Dollar a Month Club' Helps Fight Fires in Small Missouri Town

PINEVILLE, Mo. (AP) — A "Dollar a Month" club fights fires in this southwest Missouri village.

Members of the club put up $1 each month toward payments on new fire equipment. Concern about firefighting developed last summer, when a 90-year-old mill here burned. Pineville's small 1946 fire truck just wasn't up to the task of fighting a fire like that.

Mrs. Wilma Hall, president of the Women's Civic Club, started the "Dollar a Month Club" club. The Pineville Boosters Club put up $2,500 to make the down payment on a new $10,000 fire truck.

The $1,000 annual payment on the balance — now $5,400 — comes from the $1 contributions.

drawn up by Rusk for the Cuban policy review indicate a belief that Castro can be wooed away from the Kremlin. Highlights of this revealing backstage document are as follows:

"Cuba represents a special case of Communist penetration of the community of free nations through the capture of an indigenous and popularly accepted revolution. For the first time, the Sino-Soviet bloc is openly in league with a Communist government thousands of miles from its perimeter. While distance and personality of Fidel Castro present some problems for the Sino-Soviet bloc, Cuba is a useful and willing instrument of bloc foreign policy and as such poses a series of potential and active threats to the peace and security of the hemisphere:

"(1) A potential threat as a Communist offensive nuclear base against the U.S.; (2) a potential threat as a Communist offensive base for limited non-nuclear aggression against Latin American nations; (3) a current threat as a basis for indirect aggression against Latin American nations; (4) a current threat as an example of the possibility of creating and holding a nation under Communist rule in this hemisphere, enflaming and strengthening the Communist forces and their allies in Latin American nations.

"Contingency plans should be re-examined and brought up to date against numbers one and two. Contingency plans should be prepared for action on the basis of OAS resolutions if firm evidence of Cuban involvement in indirect aggression in Venezuela is established.

"The threat of (numbers three and four) increases the urgency of the Alliance for Progress program and the effort to detach the political movement for progress and reform in Latin America from Communist influence."

FLOUTING THE U.S. — Haiti's volatile President ("Papa Doc") Duvalier is refusing to see Benson Timmons, new U.S. Ambassador, even though his appointment was accepted by Duvalier.

When Timmons called on Duvalier to present his credentials, the latter wouldn't meet him. Apparent reason was a report that Timmons intended to inform Duvalier that he should quit or ease his despotic rule. Ambassador Miral Williams will be shifted from El Salvador to the Dominican Republic. The one-time Rhodes scholar was brought into the diplomatic service by the late President Kennedy on the recommendation of Secretary Rusk.

Brazil's left-wing President Goulart is slated to visit Bolivia. The U.S. has poured more than $350 million in economic and military aid into Bolivia; Brazil, racked by runaway inflation and gross governmental mismanagement, hasn't given Bolivia a dime. But Goulart, who has long played footsie with Communists, is virtually certain of a tumultuous welcome.

Lesser State Offices Not Stepping Stones To Political Careers

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The current search of the Democratic party organization men for candidates willing to run for the lower offices on the state ticket this year provides a reminder of the curious deflation of the stature of those positions and their lessened desirability in recent decades.

Wyngaard

In many of the other states of the country such places as state treasurer and secretary of state and offices of comparable function under other names are training grounds and stepping stones for the ambitious and promising young politician. So it once was in Wisconsin. In Illinois not long ago a state treasurer promoted himself into the governorship. In Minnesota the so-called lesser offices have graduated men into positions of party leadership and command. In Ohio a few years ago a state auditor, elected there, was nominated to challenge the formidable Sen. Taft for a U. S. Senate seat.

In Wisconsin there is no comparable prestige or tendency to regard such assignments as secretary of state, or state treasurer, as recruiting stations for men of promise who can develop into top leadership roles. Instead, there is a tendency to persuade candidates to run as a matter of party loyalty, and the result is that the quality of such aspirants who are attracted is not usually very impressive.

INCUMBENCY

As it happens, the offices of secretary of state and state treasurer are now occupied by Republican incumbents who have lately won by such sizeable margins as to discourage some potential contenders.

Yet it may very well be that some part of the reason for the relatively easy reelection victories of Robert C. Zimmerman and Dena Smith can be attributed to the indifferent efforts that their opponents on the opposing Democratic ticket have provided in recent campaigns. A couple of years ago the Democrats managed to elect a state treasurer, to their own private amazement, but in the two years he spent at the capitol he scarcely made an impression upon the body politic.

Moreover, nobody would seriously pretend — including themselves — that Mr. Zimmerman and Mrs. Smith have any desire or any capacity to aspire to top position in their parties, or that they might one day be regarded as suitable for a top nomination on their ticket such as governor or United States Senator or even lieutenant governor or congressman.

They inherited their places, quite literally. Mr. Zimmerman holds an office his father held before him. Mrs. Smith succeeded her husband who had served for a considerable period without a significant challenge on the ballot. It is worth noting, moreover, that he succeeded another man named Smith, and thus contributed to the legend that family name is at least as important as any other consideration in the election of candidates to the lesser offices in the state government.

OPPORTUNITIES

It may be that it is not generally appreciated that these jobs are not onerous — to put the most generous interpretation upon them — that their pay is good, and that they have almost unlimited opportunities for publicity and other build-up techniques for the ambitious and able young man (or woman) who possesses them.

Any political reporter who is aware of what is going on around him knows a dozen politicians in lesser places today who are privately dreaming of becoming governor or United States Senator some day.

But such offices require long and careful campaign preparation. A man cannot seriously aspire to hold them, in a state electoral system that now has two closely matched political parties, without long previous exposure. The lesser offices are natural practice grounds, and it is one of the minor mysteries of the system that they have not been used for that purpose.

Antics With Semantics Today's Column Topic

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Antics with Semantics: I am "stating a principle," but you are just "making a generalization."

When I return an evil for an evil, it is "retribution;" when you return an evil for an evil, it is "retaliation;" when he returns an evil for an evil, it is "revenge."

"Temporary insanity" is a plea we use only when we have committed some permanent act of injury; just as a man says he was "beside himself" when he was most withdrawn in himself.

The pretty girl I find appealing is "charmingly innocent;" the one I am indifferent to is simply "naive;" the one who irritates me is "simple-minded."

My dog is "frisky;" yours is "mischievous;" his is an "untrained brute."

I proffered the inspector an "expression of gratitude;" you made a "payoff;" he gave a "bribe."

My boy has a "behavior problem;" your boy "runs wild;" his boy is a "delinquent."

When I run a red light, I always "started through on the yellow;" when I am stopped for speeding, I was just "keeping up with traffic;" and when I park too close to a fireplug, I was always "pushed by the car behind me" — any policeman can compile a long list of demantic dodges by otherwise quite law-abiding citizens.

Speaking of the law, our ambivalent attitude is reflected in the fact that when legal restrictions prevent us from getting as much as we want, we complain bitterly about "too many laws," but when we are taken advantage of by the shrewdness or cupidity of others, we just as loudly call for a new law, another law, and stricter law, to prevent such abuses.

I am trying to "persuade;" you are trying to "influence;" he is trying to "manipulate." Female costumes of foreign lands are "exotic" when I find them attractive, and "outlandish" when I do not.

The man who is fond of saying that his "time is money" has got hold of the wrong end of the stick — for the only value of money is the time it may buy.

I am confident; you are self-assured; he is cocky.

Savings Bond Program Unfair to Investors

BY SYLVIA PORTER
If you buy a U.S. savings bond today, Jan. 6, 1964, and hold it until October, 1971, you'll end up having earned an interest rate averaging 3 3/4 per cent a year.

If you cash in your bond earlier than its maturity date in 7 years and 9 months, you'll earn less. For instance, you'll average only around 2 1/2 per cent if you cash in a year and a half from now.

You can earn, 4, 4 1/2 and up to 5 per cent a year just by placing your nestegg in savings institutions across the nation.

You can earn over 4 per cent just by buying U.S. Treasury bonds on the open market. If you're set to hold until the fall of 1971, there's a U.S. bond due then which will give you an average annual return of more than 4 1/2 per cent.

The interest rate the U.S. Treasury is paying on savings bonds today is unfair to the millions of financially unsophisticated investors who regularly build these nesteggs through the U.S. savings bond program — the greatest mass investing program the world has ever known.

Unfair Rate
The rate is unfair because it's out of line with what the Treasury is paying other buyers of its bonds. It's unfair because it is well below what private financial institutions are paying to savers, small and large. It's unfair because while the Treasury should not pay premium rates to investors in its bonds, it also should not pay them penalty rates.

Coming from me — one of the earliest and most devoted boosters of savings bonds — these are extraordinarily strong statements. But I submit that despite the unique advantages of the savings bond (and there are many), the Treasury should pay buyers the rate to which the marketplace says they are entitled. I submit too that if the Treasury will raise the rate — say to the "magic" level of 4 per cent — it will not only be squaring accounts with small investors but it also will be taking a major step toward financing the 1964-65 budget deficits in the least inflationary way.

(1) Interest rates have been in a gradual rise in recent years. Private financial institutions have boosted rates to the point where annual payments on savings of above 4 per cent have become commonplace.

Savings Bonds
Since June 1959, when the Treasury last raised the rate on savings bonds held to maturity to 3 3/4 per cent, there has been no change.

(2) If 1964's tax cuts accelerate the economy and increase the demand for loans as anticipated, the Treasury and Federal Reserve System have agreed to permit interest rates to rise in response to economic-financial forces. The trend of interest rates is upward.

Unless the Treasury boosts the rate on savings bonds, the discrimination against owners of these bonds will become more glaring.

(3) The Treasury has been enlisting the nation's top industrialists and tens of thousands of volunteers in its drives to expand payroll deduction plans. The bond has unusual appeals. It can be bought on the installment plan via payroll deductions; the buyer is guaranteed the stated rate of interest for the life of his bond; in terms of dollars, it's an absolutely riskless security; the income tax due on accrued interest can be deferred until the bond is cashed in or matures.

Budget Deficits
This is why more than 8 million wage and salary workers buy the bonds regularly under the payroll plans and approximately $47 billion of the "E" and "H" bonds are outstanding. Treasury should pay buyers a fair market rate.

(4) The Treasury must borrow as much as it can from real savers to cover the 1964-65 budget deficits in order to control the inflationary dangers inherent in these deficits.

If the Treasury raises the savings bond rate to 4 per cent, it will attract many new buyers. This would be a significant anti-inflationary move.

(5) Under the law, the Treasury can boost the rate as high as 4 3/4 per cent although the magic of 4 per cent would seem sufficient. All it need do is shorten the life of the bond — as it did before in 1952, 1957 and 1959 — to lift the rate at maturity to the level desired.

The Treasury should do this — and soon.

Johnson Destiny Tied Into 2 Major Efforts

President Must Remain in Favor With Congress, Public

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, up against two tests since he took office, has worked on one from the beginning and starts in earnest on the second one Tuesday. His destiny is interlocked with both of them.

The first—how to keep himself in the public eye and mind, favorably, to get elected next November. President Kennedy had almost three years to do this. Johnson has less than a year. He has been working overtime at it.

The second—how to get work out of the Congress. It has been criticized for laziness and stalling. It is perhaps the most criticized Congress in this century. It shows not much sign of embarrassment.

Public View
He will help himself politically by staying in public view with State news, pronouncements, programs and camera appearances. He will hurt himself politically if he can't get his programs through Congress.

No wonder, if numbers are the yardstick. In the House his Democrats outnumber Republicans 256 to 178 and in the Senate 67 to 33. But at this time in American politics and history the numbers are part of a myth.

The myth is that there are only two political parties. Actually, there are several, although all huddle under the test of one party or the other. Each is made up of liberals, conservatives and reactionaries.

Irony in Success

For this reason—because the various groups shift and team up, ignoring party labels on specific issues — presidential programs often get ignored or slaughtered.

Police Allow Holdup Man to Conduct Prayers

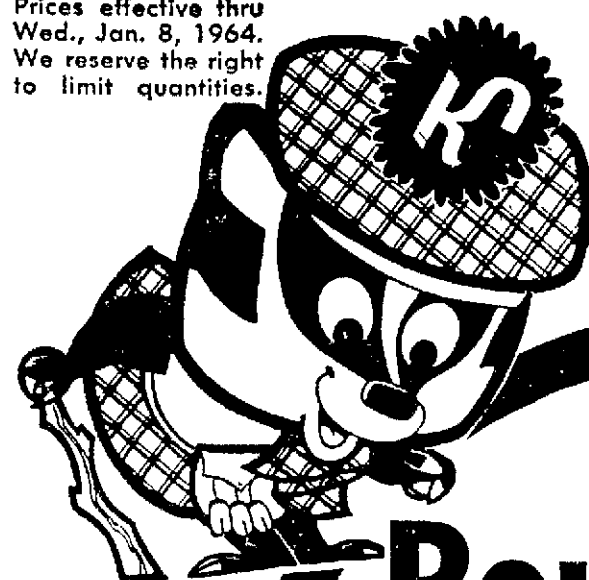

ATLANTA (AP)—Robert Lee Pruitt, 36-year-old father of eight, was being taken to jail on two charges of armed robbery when he asked officers to let him stop at his home to hold a prayer service with his family.

Detective Capt. E. E. Peppers said Sunday he and patrolman J. T. Newsome "decided to take a chance" after Pruitt said the family held prayer services each night.

Peppers said the two officers waited in the living room while the family assembled and participated in the service. After it was over, Pruitt was escorted on to jail.

Pruitt, asked by the officers why he had twice held up a grocery store near his suburban East Point home, replied: "I don't know."

Youthful Spinsters Have Gala Welcome the New Year Spree

Young men and women of high school age welcomed the new year at the annual Spinsters Spree. The traditional party, sponsored by the Little Women's Circle of the King's Daughters, was held Tuesday evening at the Masonic Temple.

"Wonderland by Night" was the theme for the 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. dance. Many of the party-goers began the evening with cocktail parties and ended it with breakfasts or informal get-togethers at the homes of friends.

Proceeds of the event will be used to help support the Circle's charity projects. The group is composed of Appleton and Xavier High School girls.

Planning the dance were Misses Chris Fourness, Mary Schulenburg, Sue Dreier, Diane Dafoe, Ann Brummund, Barbara Gmeiner, Jane Sundin, Carolyn Selle, Mary Rae,

Balloons and crepe paper streamers lent a colorful air to the New Year's Eve party for the young set. At left, entering the ballroom, are Charles Hoepfner, Miss Lana Lemke, Miss Chris Grupe and John Odum. Below, Miss Mary Ann Suess pins a boutonniere on her escort, Gerald Kurtyka. Tradition decrees that the young women provide their dates with boutonnieres, usually incorporating the young man's interests and hobbies. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Style, Fit Important In Dresses

With today's fabrics it's usually no problem to find little girl's dresses that are attractive. You do need to check for fit and style.

Your little girls can do some choosing of color and style. Help a youngster to learn good taste and pride in her clothes by picking out two dresses and then allow her to make the final choice. Giving her too many dresses to choose from just confuses her.

You can make practical selections that are appropriate for play, school or party. You can see that the trim is simple and not difficult to care for. You can pick colors that are neither too dark nor too light and designs that are attractive.

Check Garment Fit
Other than appearance you need to consider how the garment fits. You want to allow for freedom of movement yet not buy sizes too big. Check the trouble areas — sleeves and collars, waists and shoulder straps. Cap or raglan sleeves put in with a gusset give good freedom. They're comfortable and an exact placement of the armhole line isn't needed. Open collars give freedom and have little chance of binding.

Use Wide Straps
Shoulder straps can be mighty troublesome when they're constantly falling off narrow shoulders. For little girls a slip with built-up shoulders helps. In play clothes it's best to have wide straps that fasten in front and are held securely on the shoulder.

It's easier for youngsters to dress themselves if dresses open in the front, belts fasten in the front and zippers can be reached easily for closing. A waistline in a dress needs to be about an inch larger than the waist measurement, with elastic used to control the ease.
